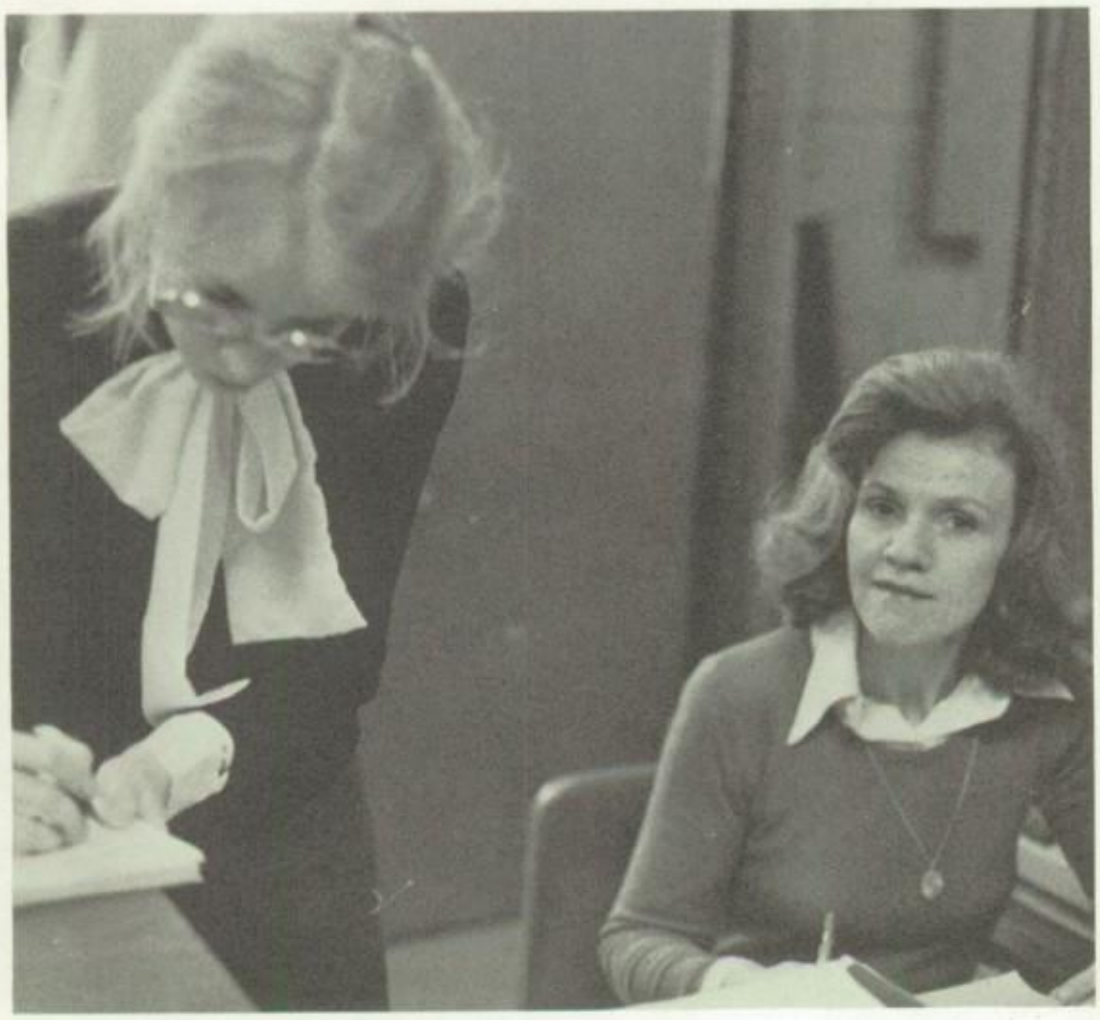
Faculty

Administration

Numerous phone calls throughout the day do not let Br. Francis Dalton forget the principal's role as a public relations man.

Office Secretary Mrs. Maureen Allison chats with the mailman while Mrs Sandra Boike scrambles to complete a letter for him to take.



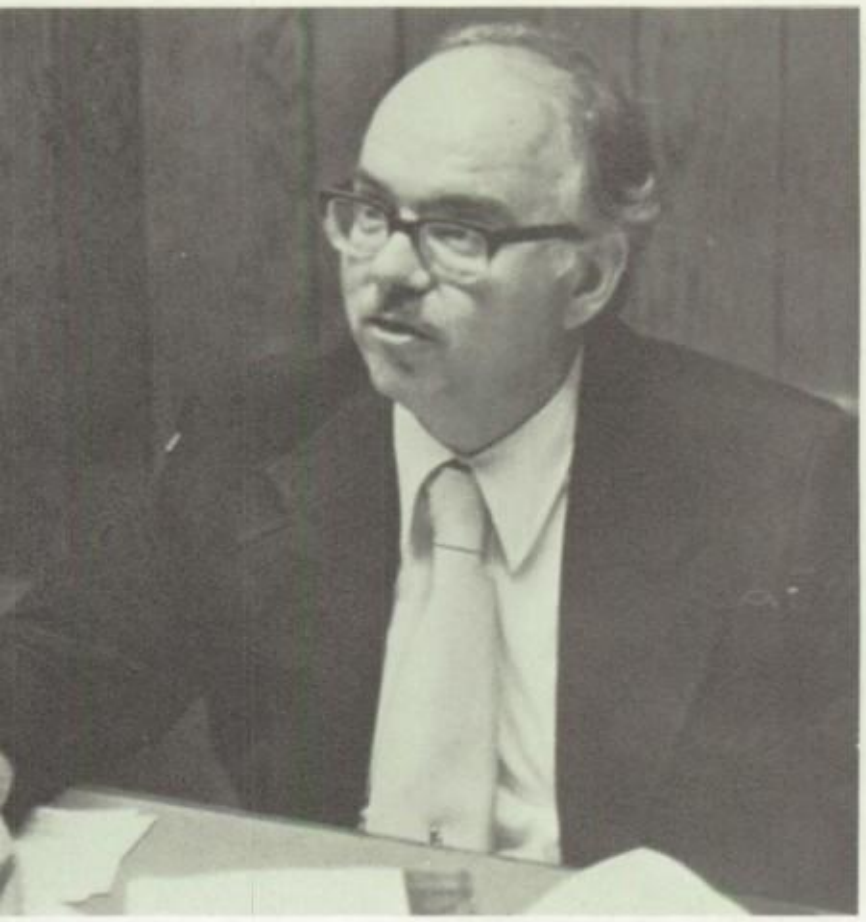
Vast Efficiency Works Behind Limelights

Achievements of excellence in academics and athletics are the immediate, recognizable results of encouragement and support of the highly qualified Brother Rice faculty. Also, it is from the interested and understanding position held by the faculty that students have the opportunity to grow and become Christian men of leadership.

Under the new direction of principal Br. Francis Dalton, and fresh influence of Mr. Stanley Adamski, Fr. Lawrence Gomez, Br. Daniel Heron, Mr. Guy Morel, Mr. James Walch, and Mr. John Woodward, greater youth, wisdom and character are brought to our school.

Brother Rice is recognized as a school of high standards, and justifiably so, for the faculty provides a college preparatory program that is invaluable for the students. The involvement of the faculty goes far beyond the classroom because of the fact that learning goes far beyond mere textbooks. Witnesses to this are both major activities as well as those not as easily recognized. Annually, an excursion to Europe has been arranged by the Language Department. Independent Study courses are offered by the Science Department. Intramurals as well as Varsity Athletic programs and other student organizations involve and are often coordinated by members of the faculty.

The dedication and perseverance of the faculty are not in vain. Mr. Albert Fracassa, Mr. Robert Stark, and Mr. James Rademacher exemplify this devotion, as they all received the honor of Coach of the Year in their respective sports. It is important to remember that acknowledgement is often due in other less discernible areas also.



Mr. James Murphy, Dean of Discipline, assigns a car registration number to a recently licensed student.

Assistant Principle Br. Michael Driscoll pauses while answering questions that students have concerning their scheduling for the school year.

Office Secretary Mrs. Sandra Boike is obviously not thrilled with Br. Francis Dalton's decision to send out another mailing to the entire school.

Academics and athletics aside, the spiritual and character development of the individual is of central importance. The student-teacher barrier is seldom carried past the classroom. Rather, there is a uniqueness between the two which stimulates maturity. The Brothers are constant and ultimate reminders of what dedication and servitude to Christ really is.

The Brother Rice Faculty is exceptional. They are instrumental in the spirit and pride that make Brother Rice what it is—an ideal.

Bookkeeper Mrs. Lucille Sundquist checks on the school's account as another request for money is made.

Guidance

Helpful Counseling Available for Students with Problems

Tom Williams and Fr. Lawrence Gomez make use of free time by discussing school gossip.

Br. Anthony Cannon, returning to his counseling services at Br. Rice after a year's absence, reports on a student's progress to an interested parent.

Bogged down with college and scholarship applications and other such paperwork, Mr. John Glynn works eagerly away in his recently relocated office.

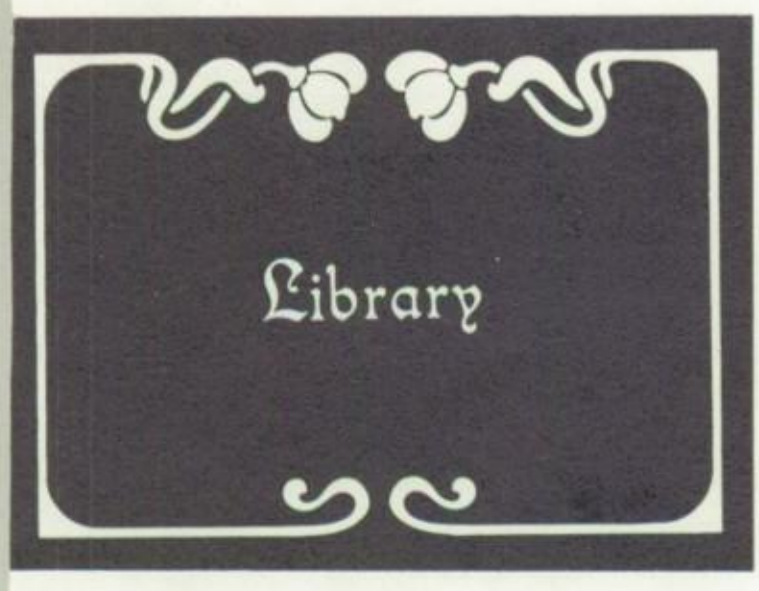
Mrs. Margaret Dankovich, Assistant Librarian, feverishly drills herself on the finer points of the Dewey Decimal System.

Mrs. Pat Ellison puts the finishing touches on a history stencil which is soon to be run off on the duplicating machine.

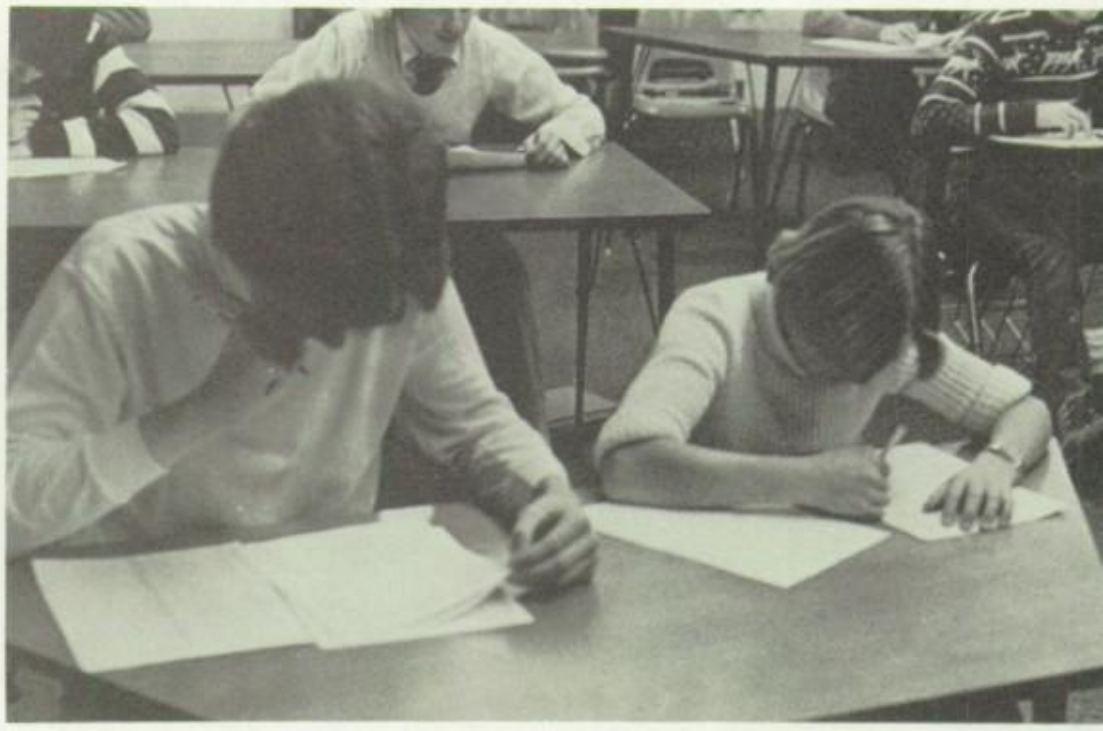
Holding his head in desperation, Freshman Mike Riley comes to the realization that perhaps the library is not the best place to study.

Mrs. Helen Ginzliser seeks refuge from her daily librarian routine behind a shelf of encyclopedias.



Library Provides an Array of Facilities

Mr. Ronald Kalczynski is tripped up on his reply to a Freshman's question on the meaning of life.



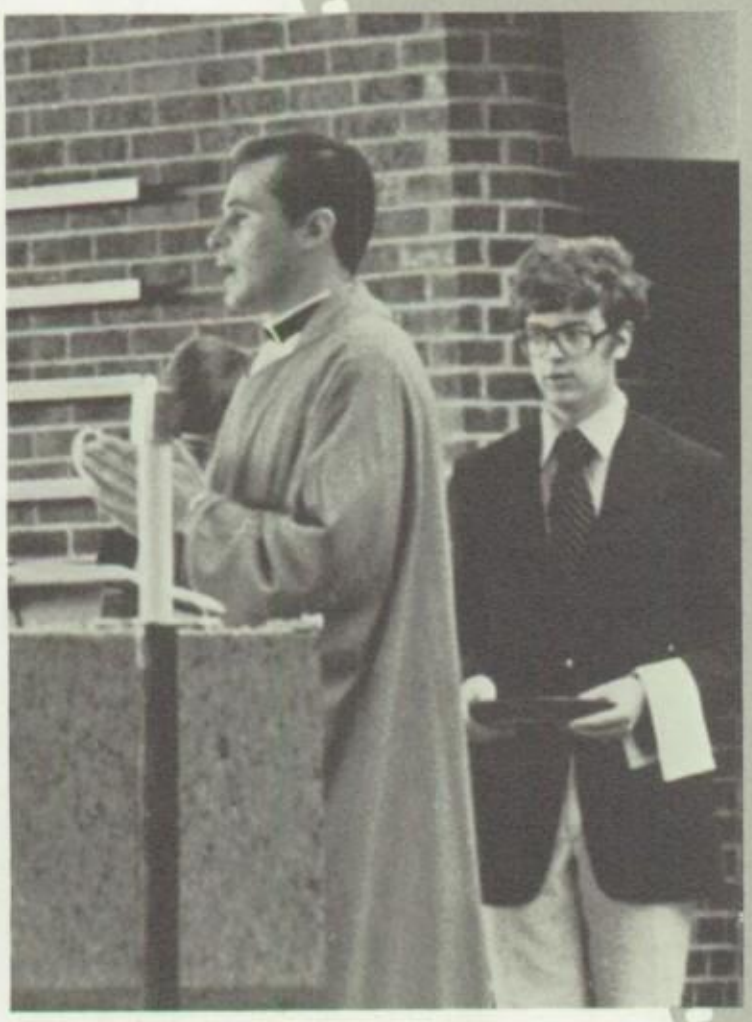
It is nail biting time for Mr. Kalczynski's Sophomore Theology class as students prepare to exhibit the extent of their knowledge in this "non-academic" course.

Underclassmen discuss parts of Father Lawrence Gomez's homily after a daily liturgy.

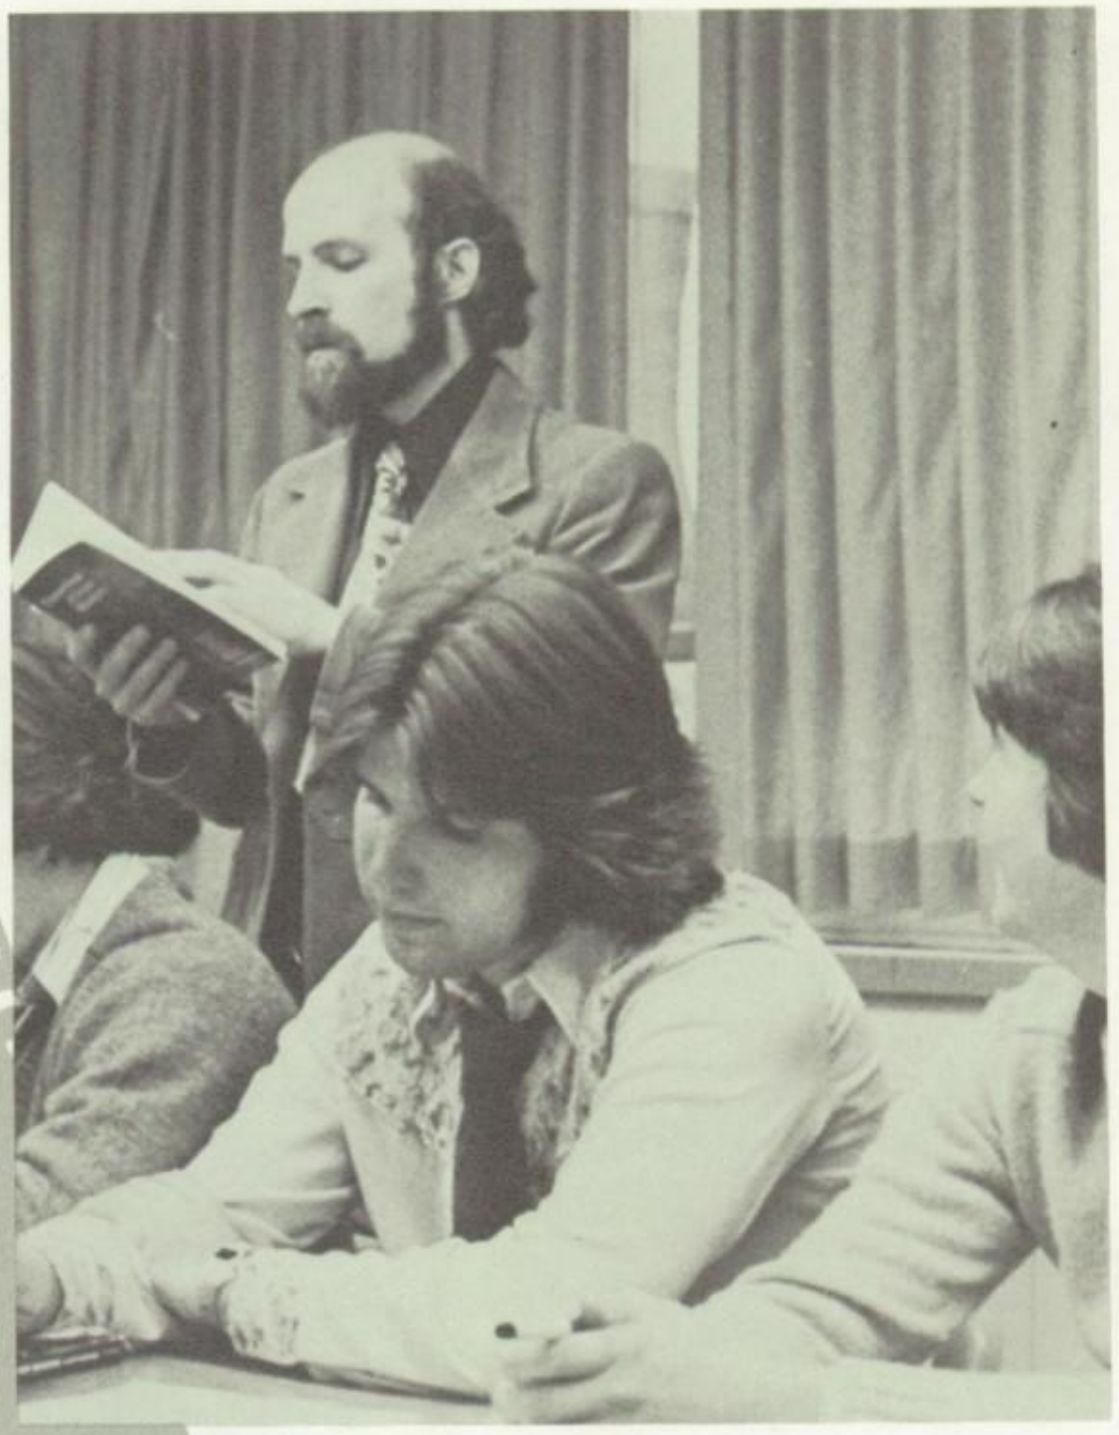
Department Chairman Br. Charles McKenna, spearheading the theological studies, momentarily considers a student's suggestion to eliminate Theology from the curriculum.

Theological Study Enhances Spiritual Development

Theology



Father Lawrence Gomez carries theology out of the classroom by celebrating mass for the students.



In preparation for a lesson in Transactional Analysis, Mr. Paul Gray chants from the book of I Ching to his Senior Theology class.

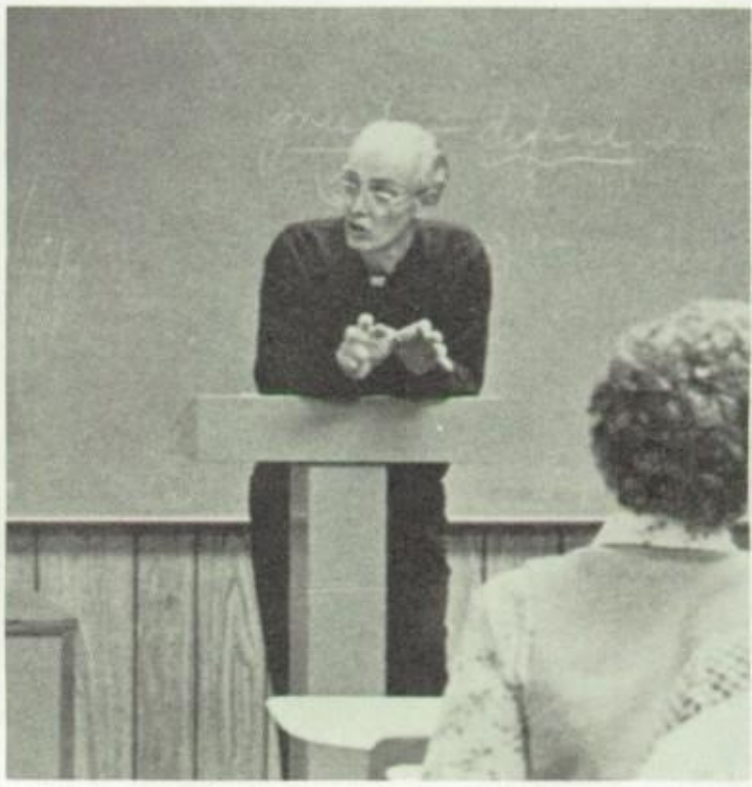
A rare occasion, it looks like Senior Len Perna may have found an error in one of Sister Judine King's literary quotations.

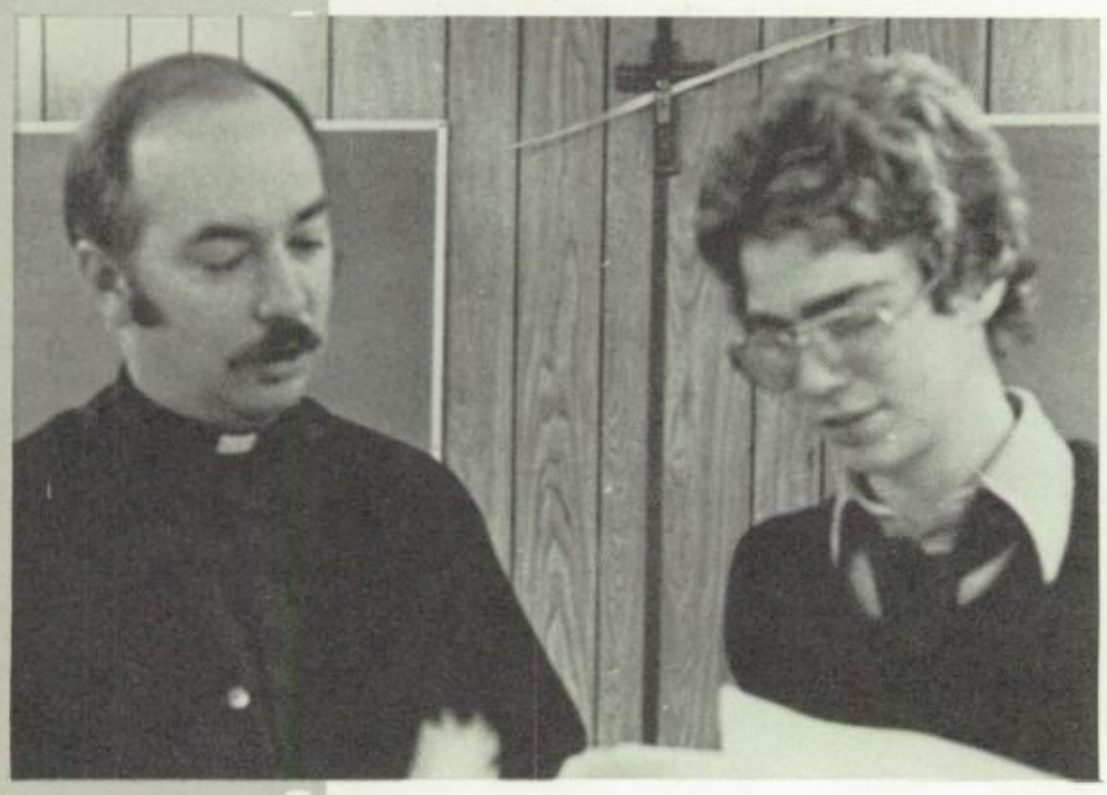
English

Grammar and Comp.

'Literally' Grand!

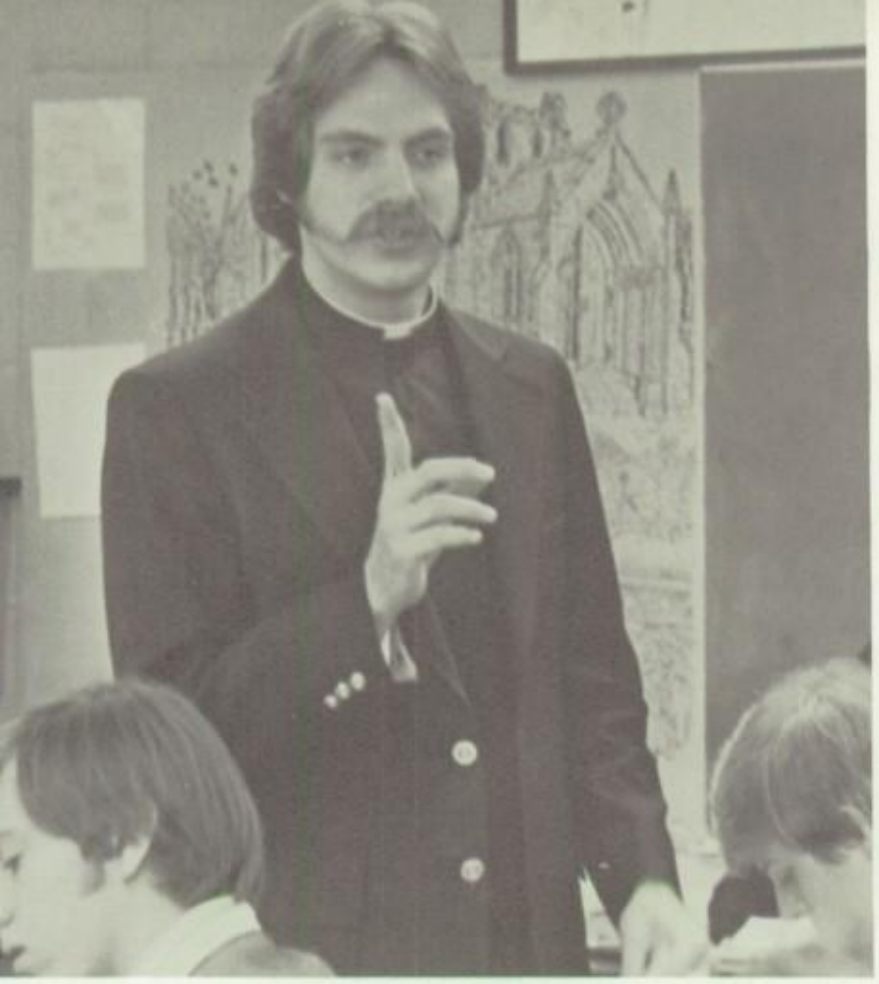
Br. Daniel Oehrle goes over the importance of good out line form before letting his class have it.





Br. Robert Koppes gives Sophomore Greg Marquis a break, by proofreading his essay several days before it must be turned in for good.

Mr. Michael Leu sifts through a stack of papers after school, in order to return them the next day.



Br. William Dogan starts at the very beginning of the English language, by telling his class the story of Beowolf.

Language Department Chairman Mr. Marcel Gagnon catches up on the Sydney Harris column in-between his English classes.

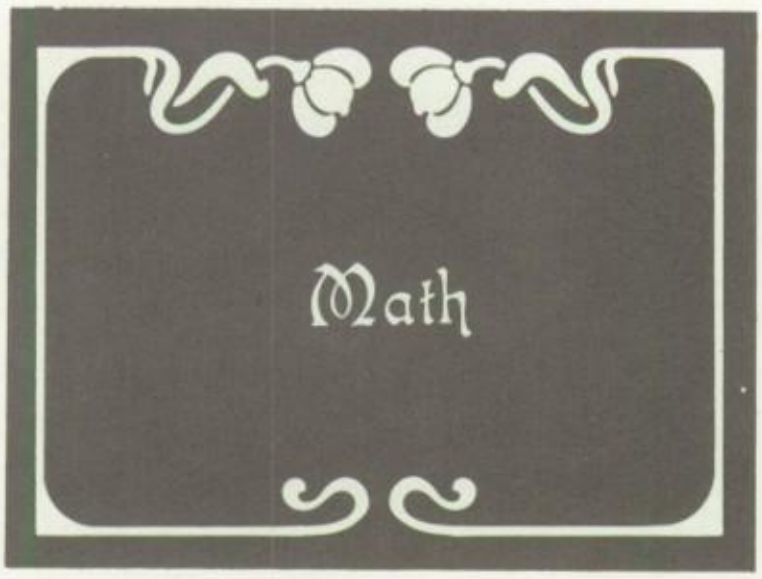
Dried up from his last language class, Mr. Guy Morel waters down in preparation for another display of knowledge and wit for one of his English classes.

Mr. Stephen Hebold discusses and lists on the board the various strong and weak points of selected authors.

Br. Joseph King spares none, but at the same time gets right down to meat and potatoes for his Freshman English class.

Math

Figures & Formulas Offer Systematic, Practical Solutions



Apparently, Department Head Br. Benjamin Favero, considers prob. and stats. a joke, while Mike Pawlus does not.

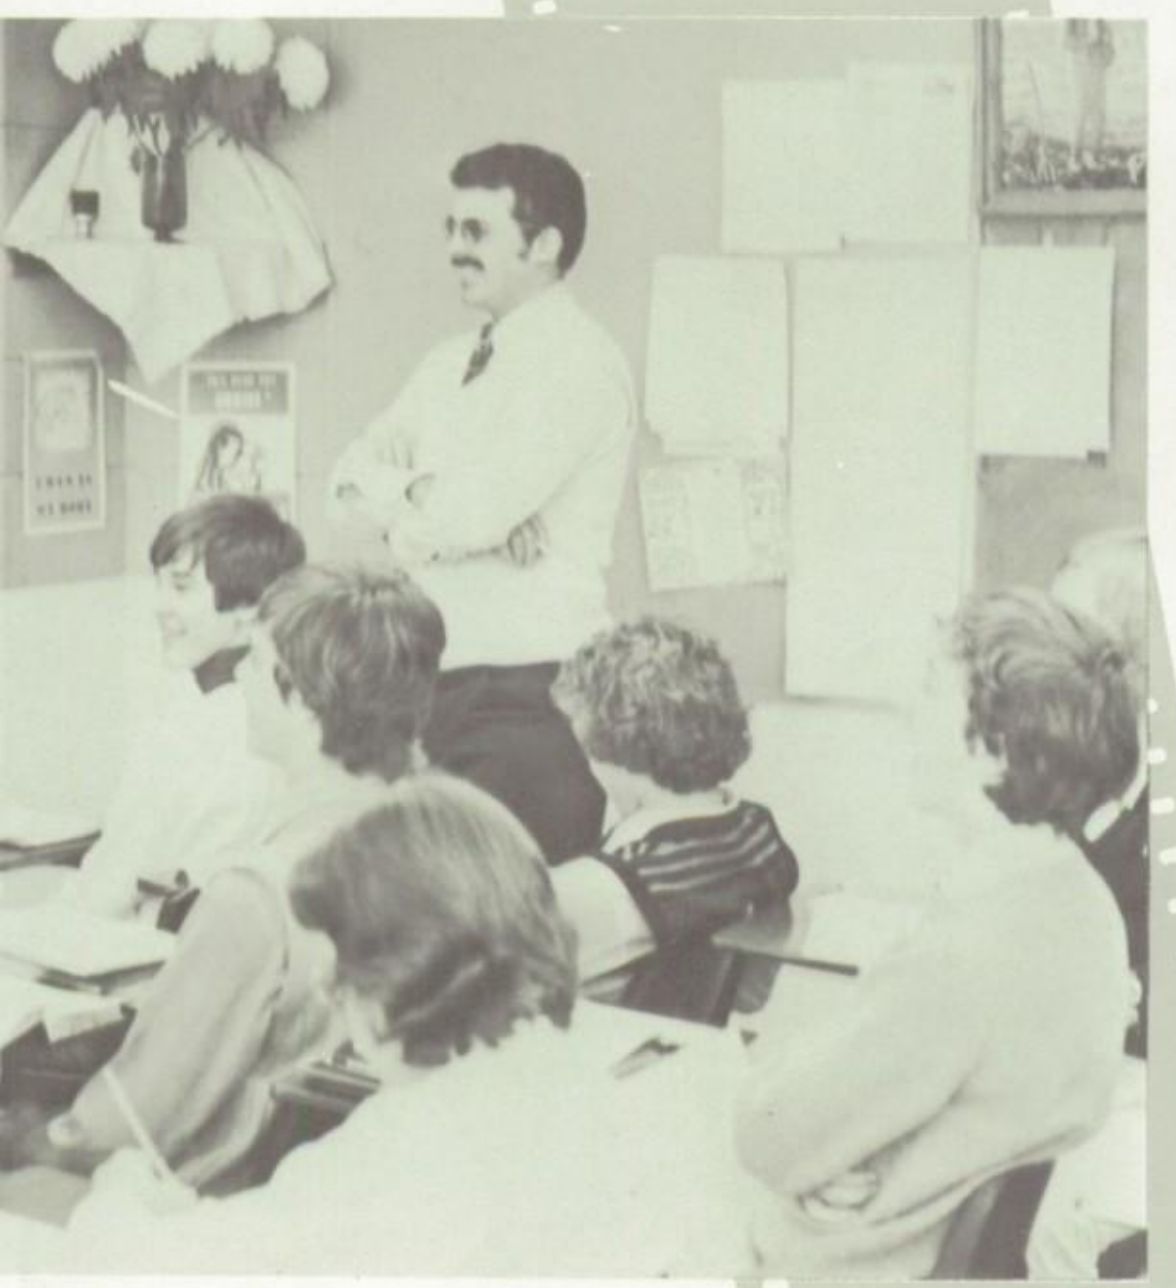
While watching students struggle over a surprise quiz, Mr. Jame Rademacher thinks about how the scores are going to turn out

Students, all with a multitude of "correct" answers, send Mr. Francis Carrico to his answer book.

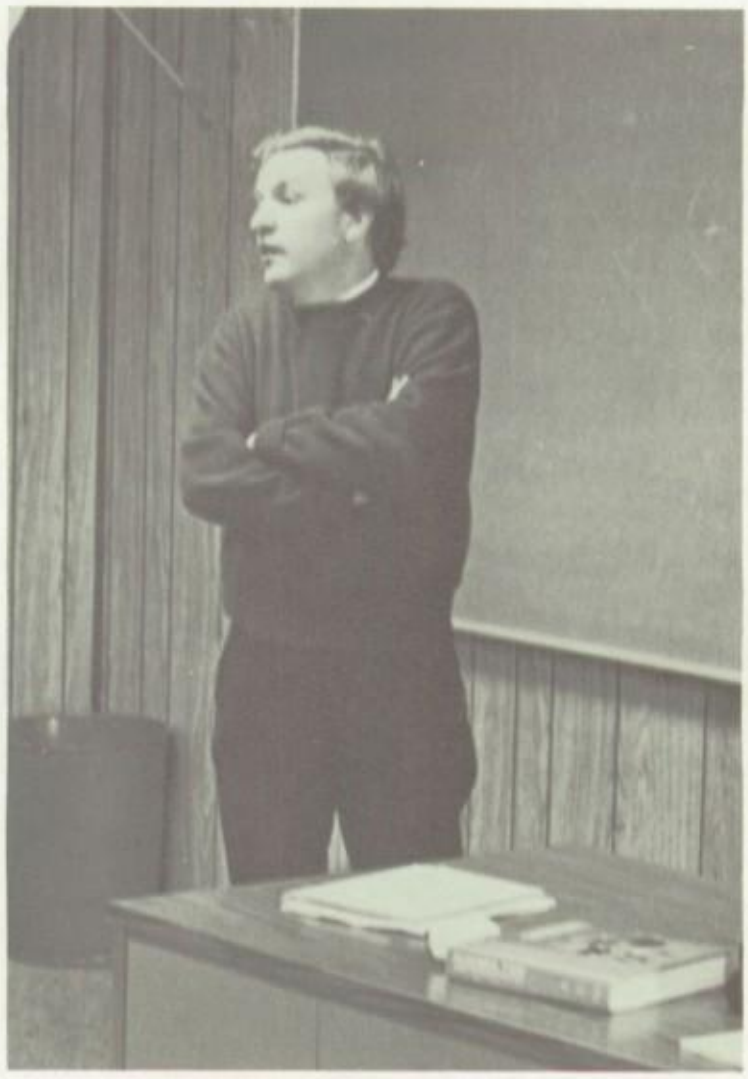
Br. Daniel Herron begins class by going over the answers for the homework from the night before.

Mike Condit's attempt at a problem brings nothing more than a chuckle from Mr. Carl Grosso as he scans the class for the answer.

Several volunteer students having a mathematical race at the front blackboard amuse spectators Mr. David Kozlowski and his class.



Mr. Anthony Sincic stays after school in order to explain parts of a recently taken test to Mike Gallu.

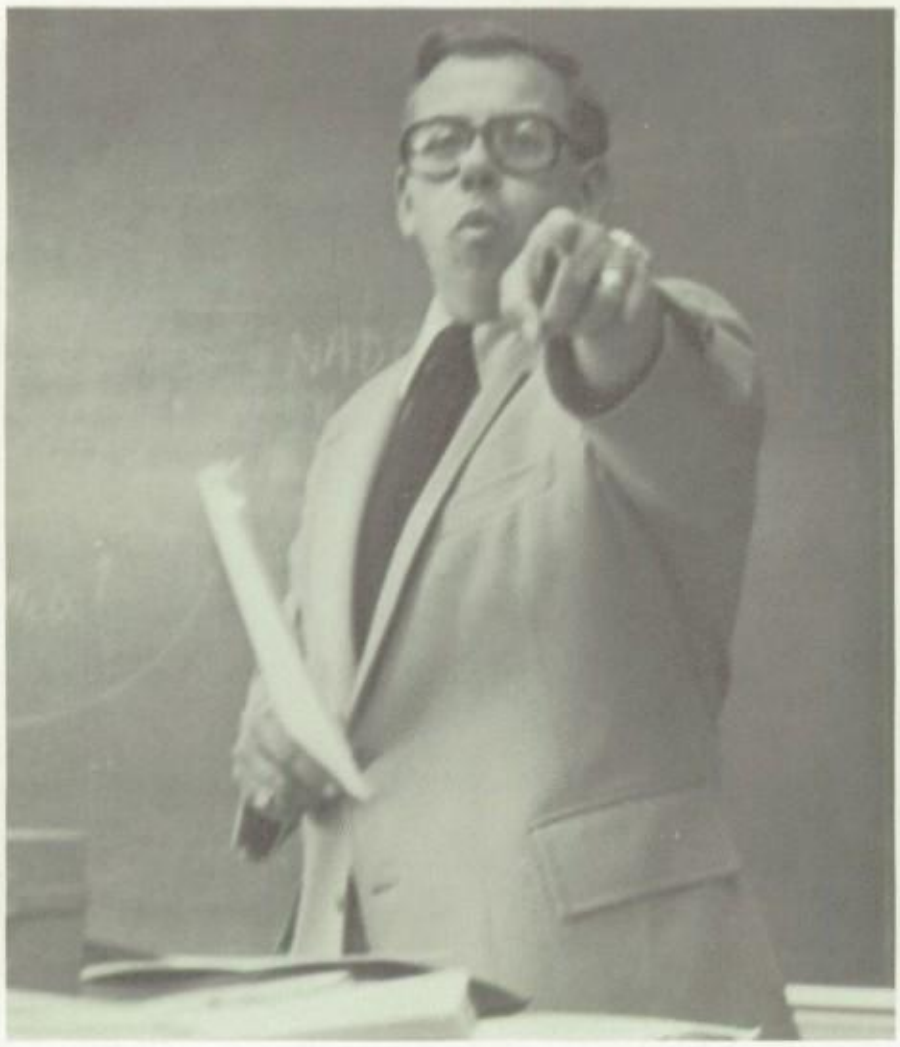


Mr. Robert Stark has to put up with some ribbing before he can start teaching his class.

Mr. Stanley Adamski explains a fundamental concept to his Algebra Class.

Science

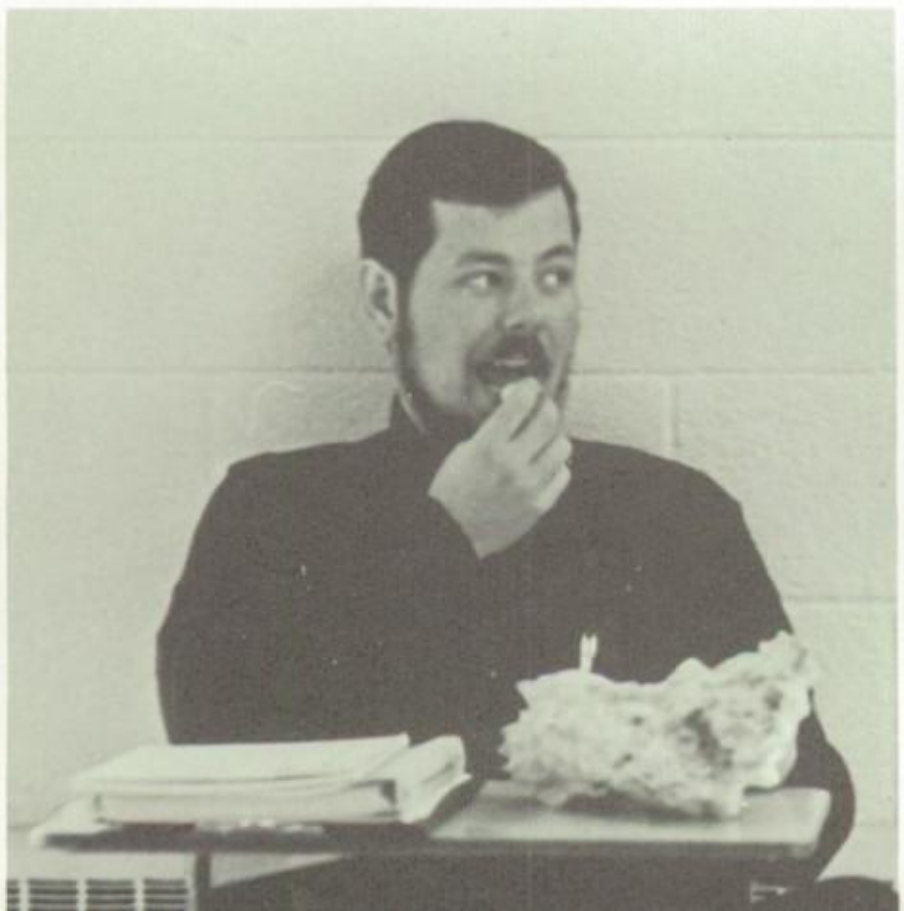
Opportunity for Experimentation Readily Supplied



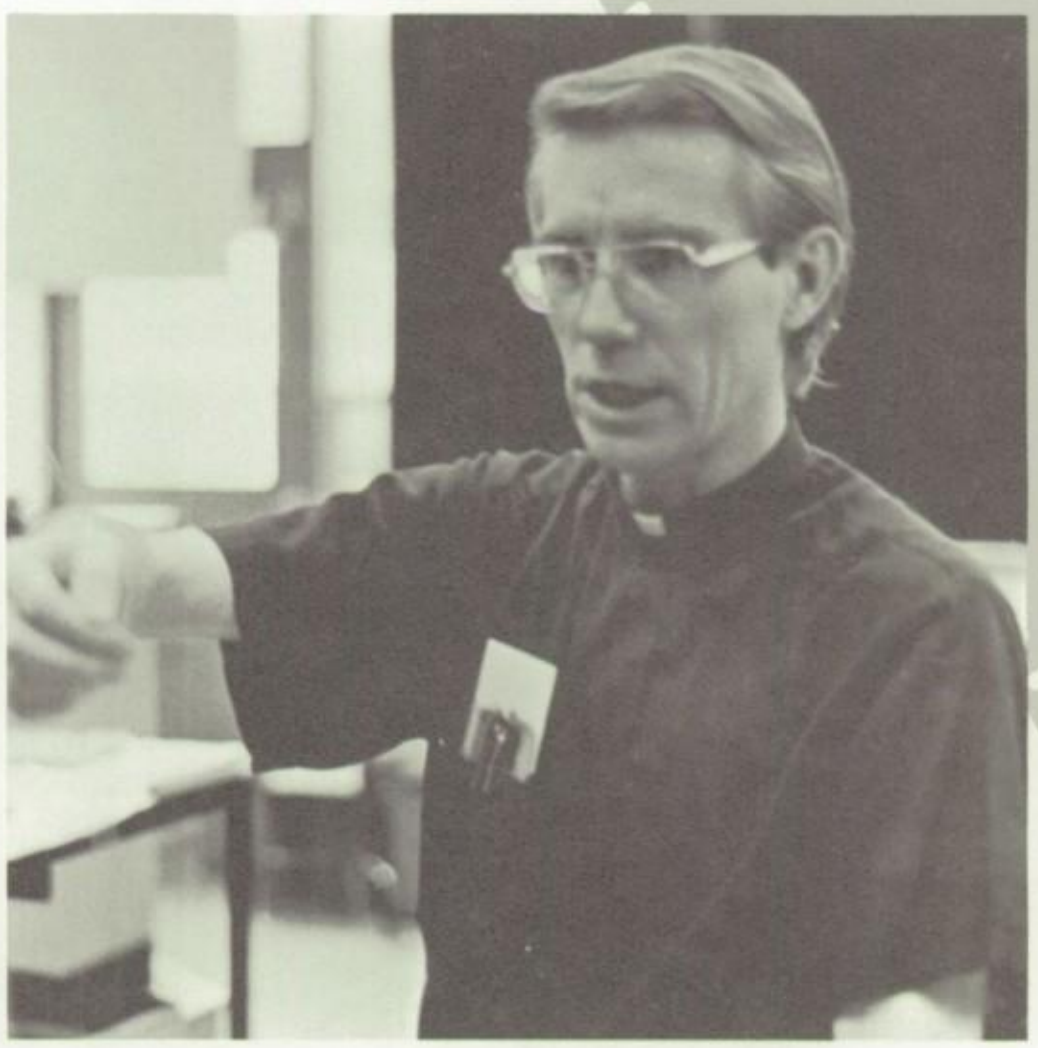
Mr. Michael Popson makes no mistake about the probability of a quiz for the Advanced Biology students.

Bob Biehl calls upon Br. Gregory Smyth to further explain a concept recently covered in an introductory Biology class.

Impatient for lunchtime, Br. Gregory Smyth sneaks a bite of an experimental fungus.



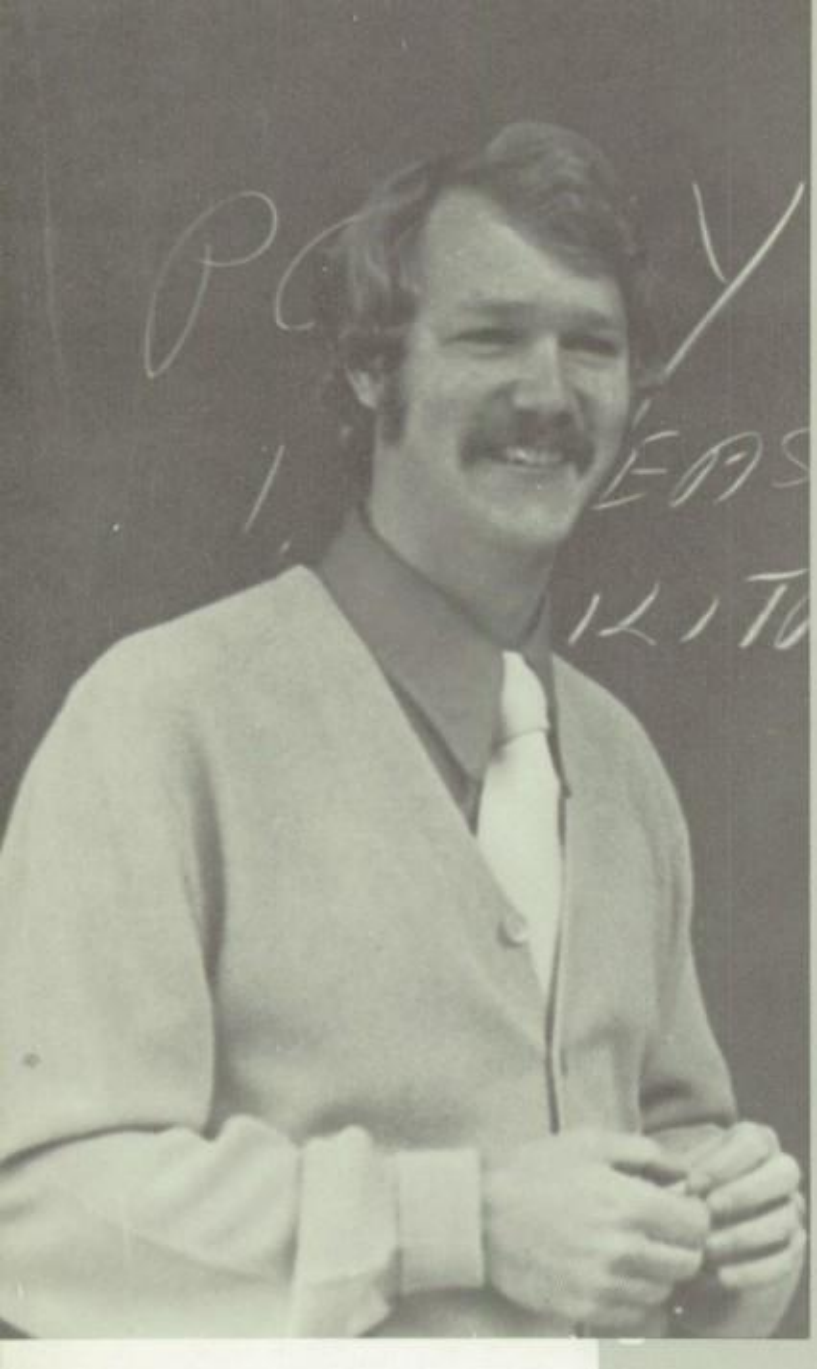
During a tough physics experiment, Bill Bartley and Tom Grier both look down at the paper waiting for the formula to work itself out.



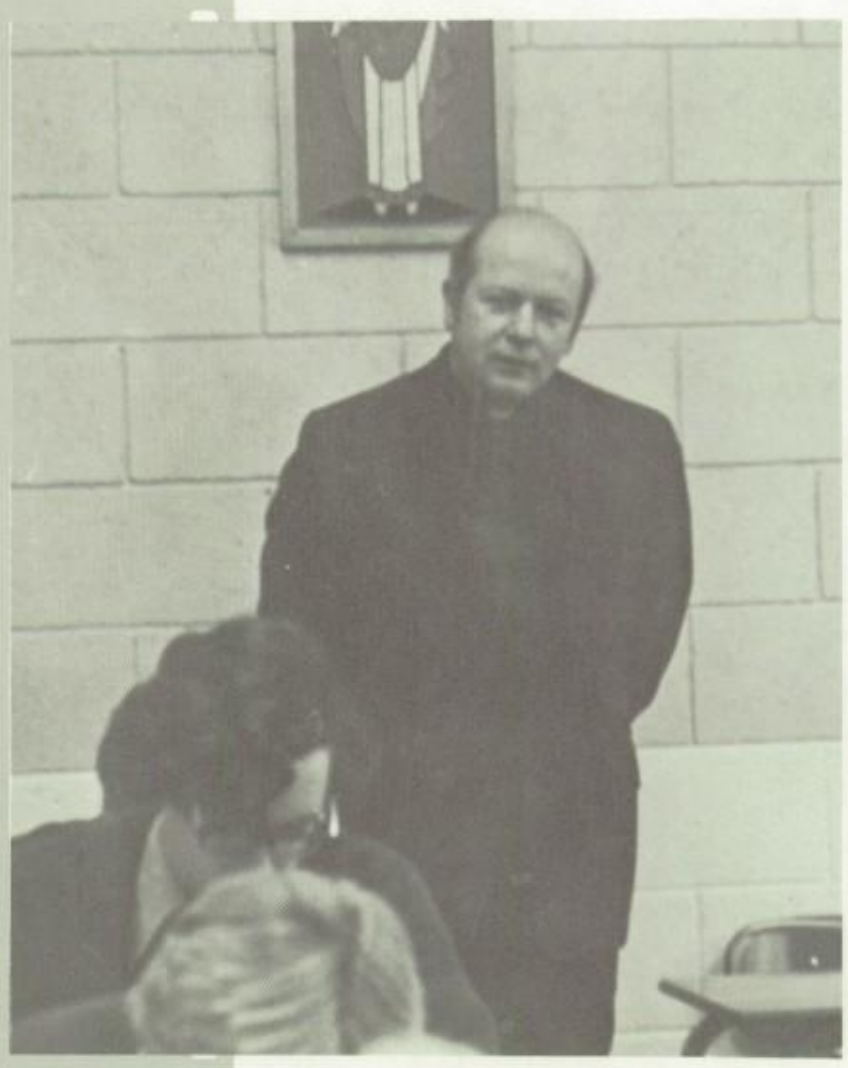
In describing rotary motion to Senior physics students, Br. Michael Driscoll displays that even the Administration is capable of teaching.

Miss Susan Diehl gets into her explanation of how valence electrons are "made happy".

Anxious to get their lab reports back, students gather around Mr. John Woodward as he passes them out.

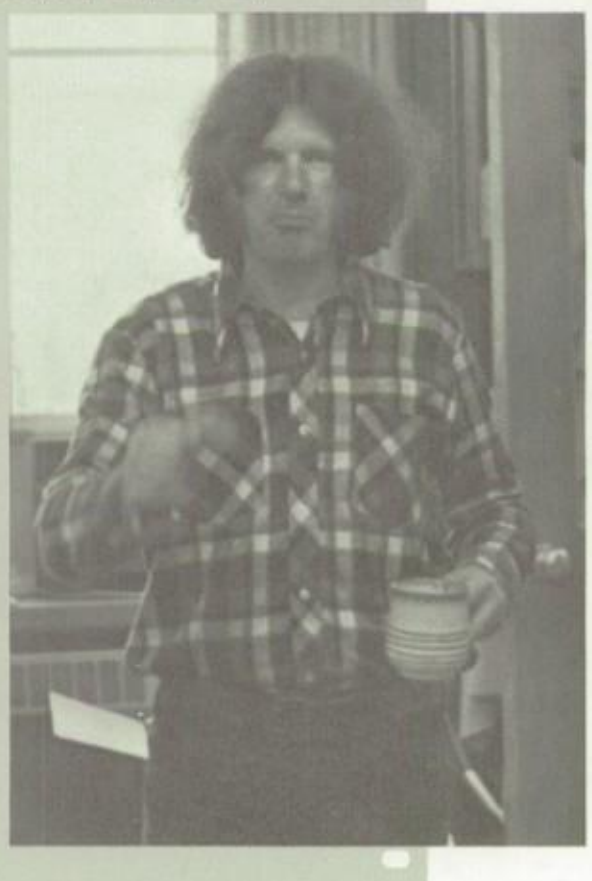


Mr. James Wartchow is going to have to think for a moment to get a good answer to a mind boggler.



Getting a head start on his test correcting, Br. Robert Brouillette checks the answers as the students write them.

Mr. Gerald Moynahan is caught taking time out for a coffee break.



History

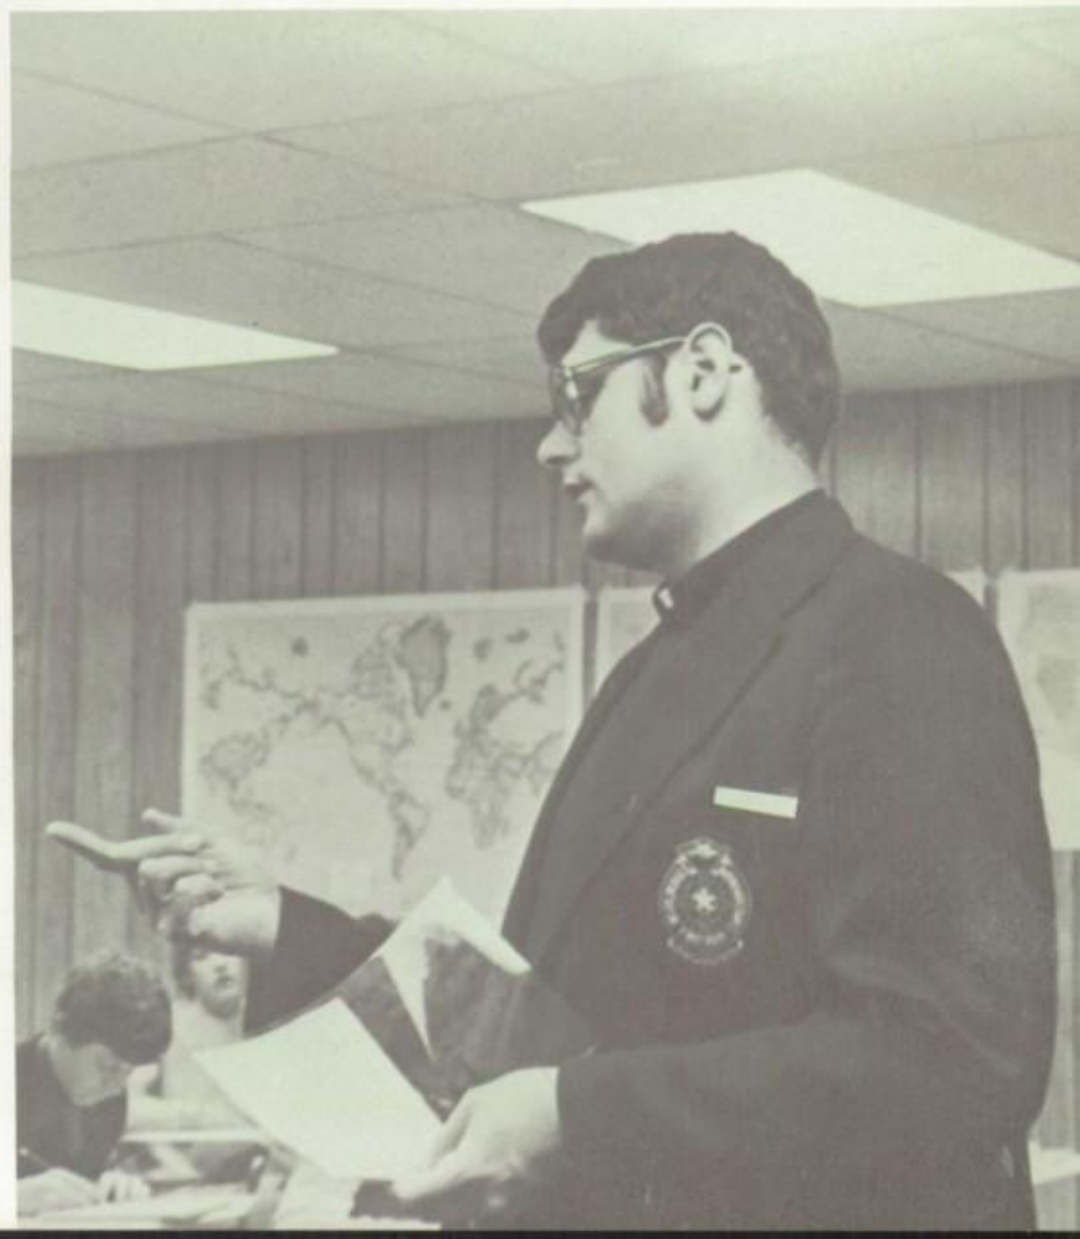
Insight into Times Old and New Are Presented

A hopeful Paul Violassi gets his test back from a discreet Br. Michael Segvich.

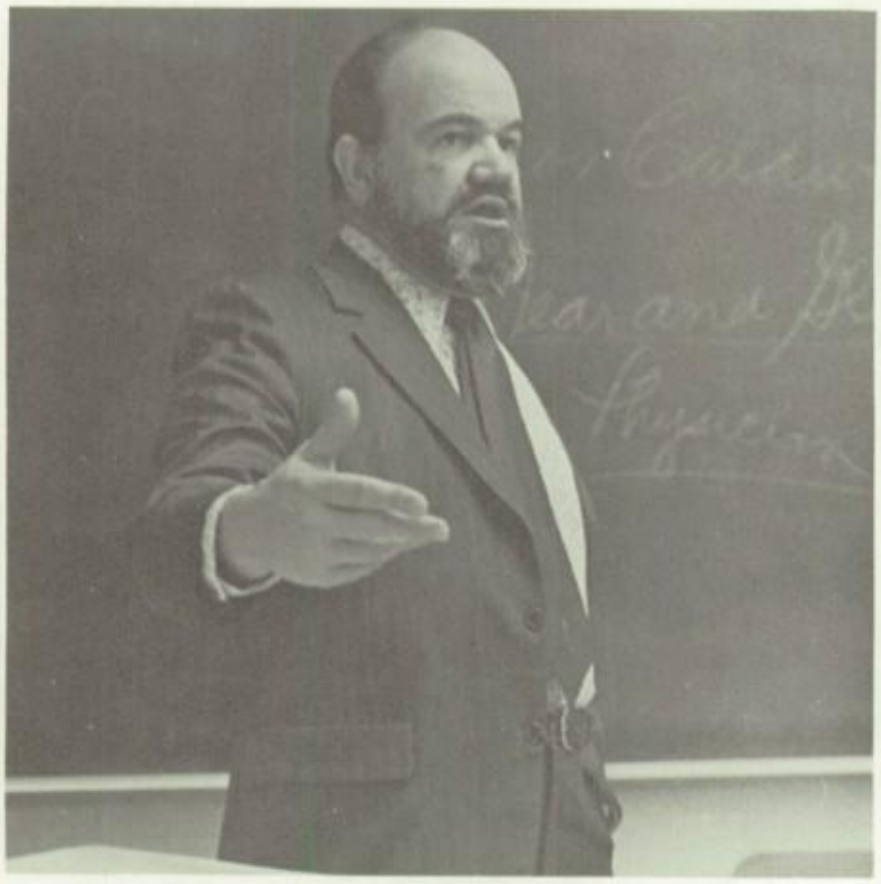
Mr. Gerald Bluhm is obviously loved by his enthusiastic class, and as a result has little to say about how his picture is going to be taken.

Department head, Mr. Gerald Moynahan listens as Gerta Lerner's Growth of the Midwest is attacked.

Using an overhead projector, Br. Michael Segvich points out that history is not just cut and dry!



Mr. Guy Morel allows some of his literary knowledge to come out during one of his French classes.



Mrs. Veronica Dewey explains the relationship between some Don Quixote material and todays' society to her Spanish IV Honors class.

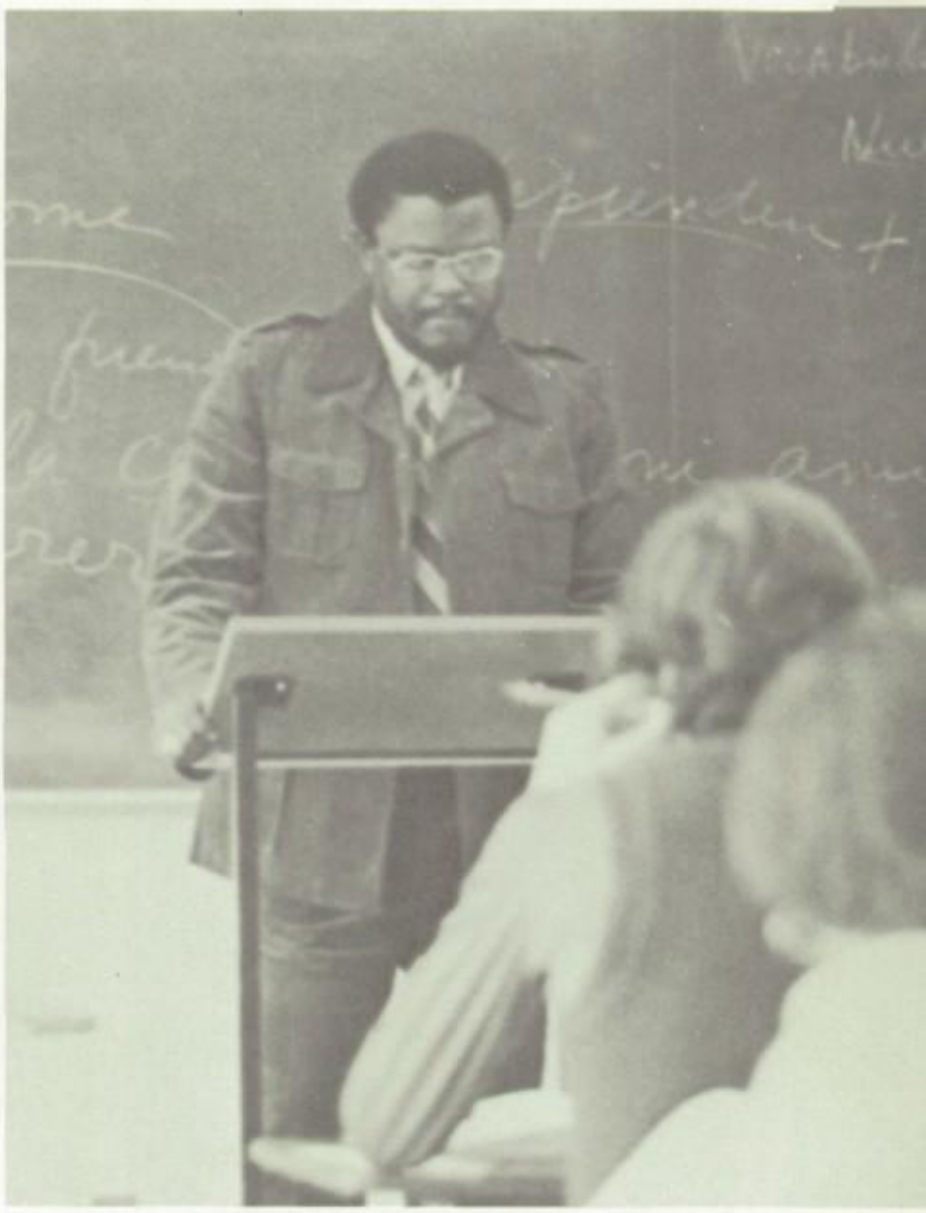
After asking about the importance of French, Mrs. Veronica Dewey's French class find themselves in the midst of a tropical storm, as she eagerly expounds upon the subject.

Br. Walter Chang figures test scores during hall duty.

Inter-Culture Values Explored

Students eager to expand their linguistic backgrounds keep Mrs. Wanda Koesteke busy in the recently updated Resource Center.

Language



Always with a bag full of suprises, Senor Civil assigns skit topics to his soon-to-be-preforming Spanish class.

Students had better watch Language Department Head, Br. Kenneth Wolf, carefully during his "foreign currency exchange simulations."

Electives Stress the Individuals' Interest

Dan Barron patiently awaits for Mr. David Fournier to stop using the red pen on the term paper he completed for typing.

Mr. George O'Brien uses senior Matt Costello as a subject of trying out an analyzation process explained in Psychology a short time ago.

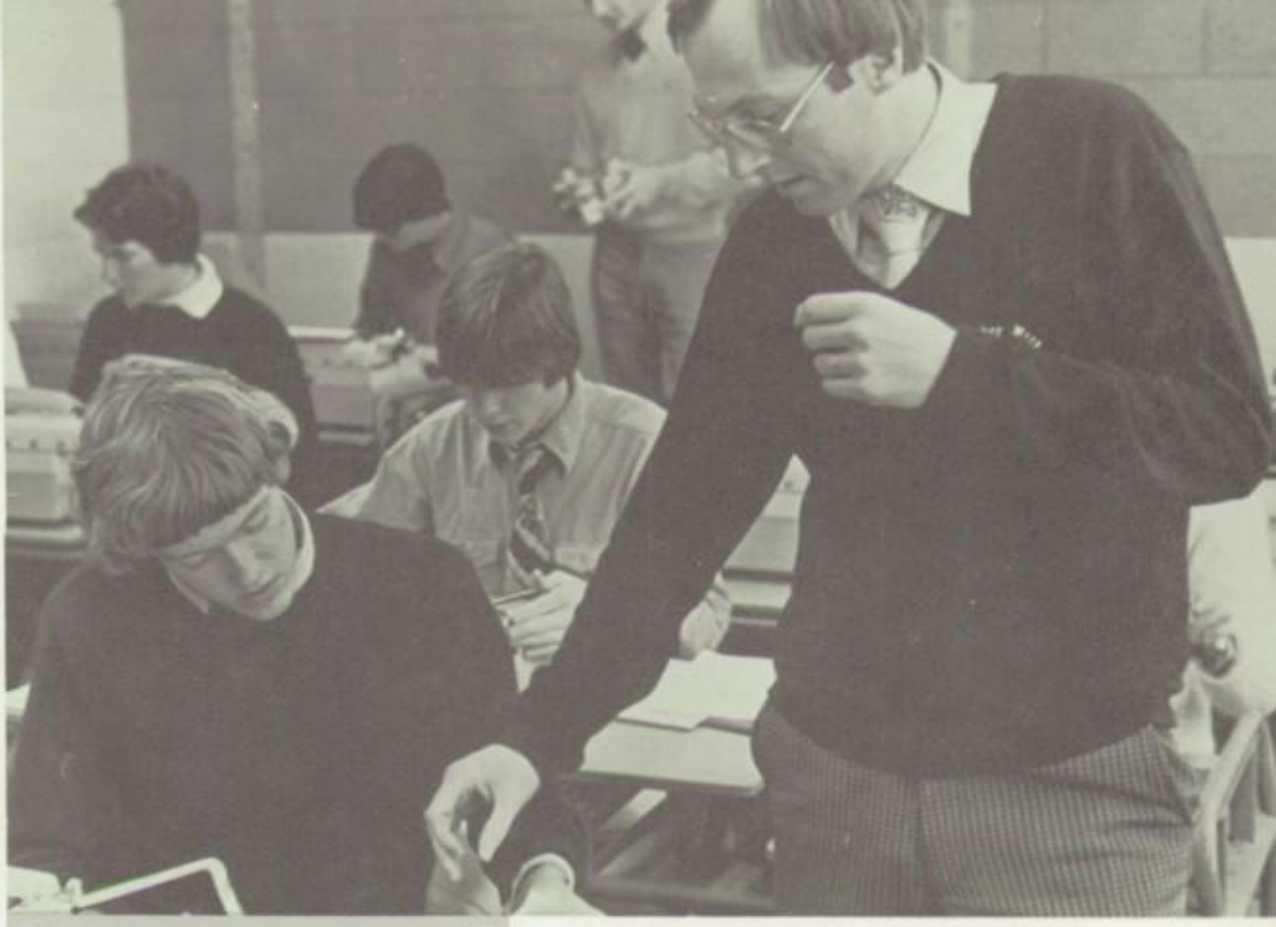
With a hard-to-please look, Mr. Donald McKercher scrutinizes drafting projects as they roll off the production line.

With the help of new statistics, Mr. Stephen Hebold relays some rather startling facts about the present-day economy.

Electives

With determination, Ed Lynch goes after maste invaluable skill of typewriting.

Mr. Donald McKercher and Tim Andree have to be th two people who find business principles comical.



Proper technique being a must for efficient typing, Mr. James Rademacher illustrates the position of the right hand to novice typist Dan Anderson.

Out of jealousy, Dave Roberts relentlessly ridicules Dave Simmons just because of a few erasures, wrong measurements, and low drafting project number.

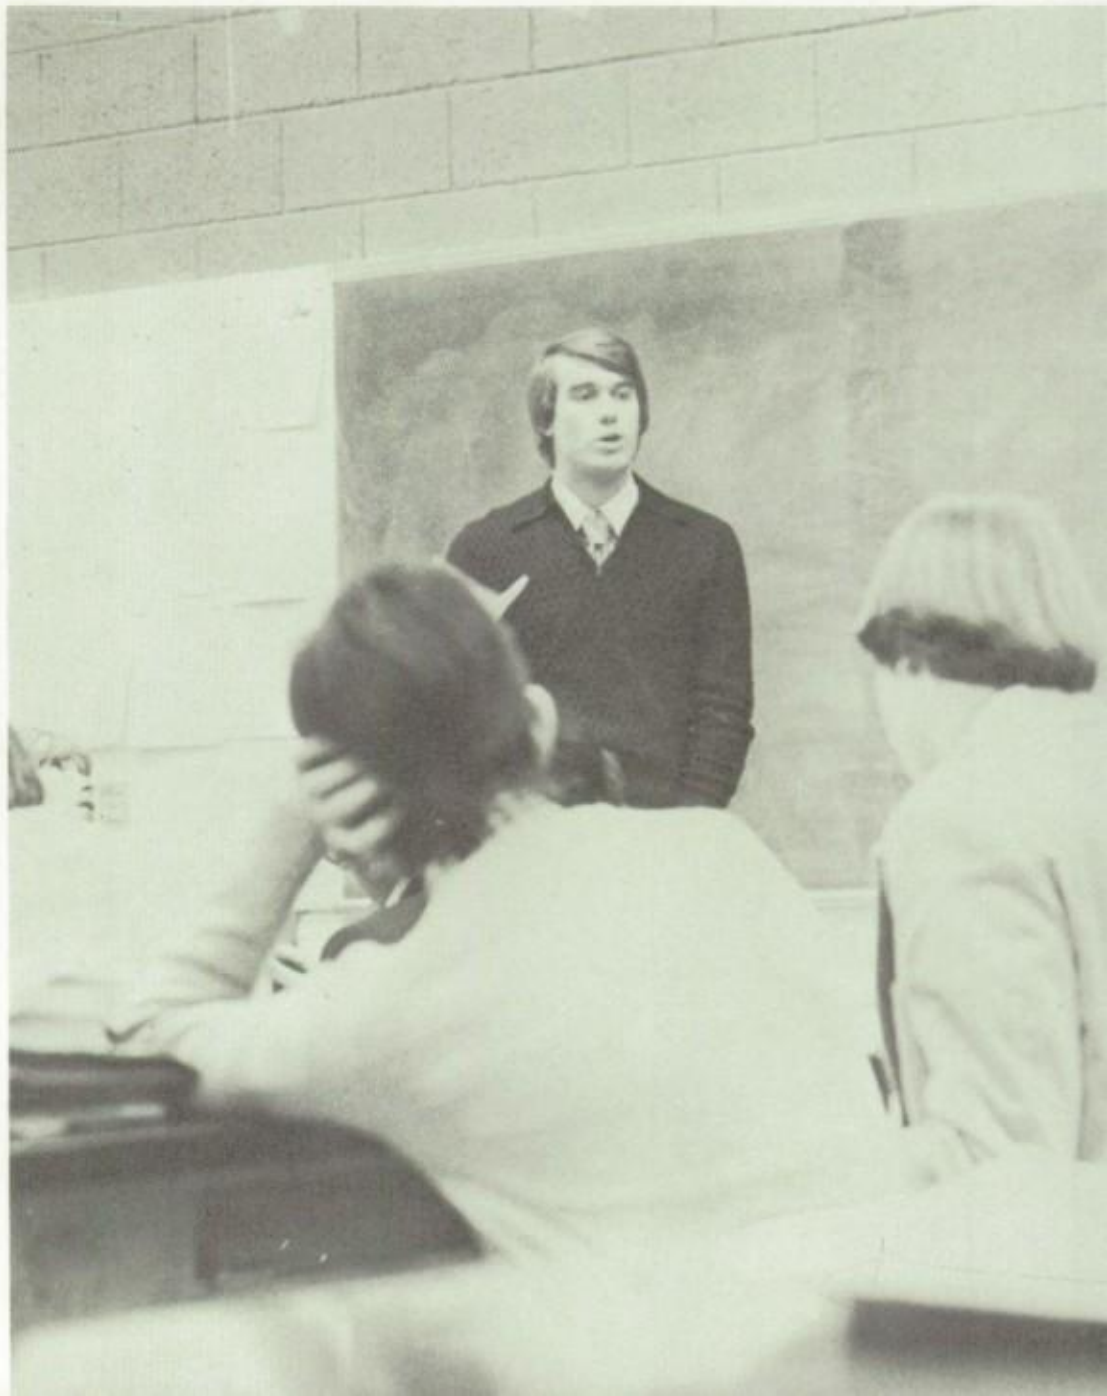
Multi-Talented Instructors Make for Diverse Program

Physical Education

Several students are warned not to take divots out of the gym floor as they line up to learn the basics of golf.

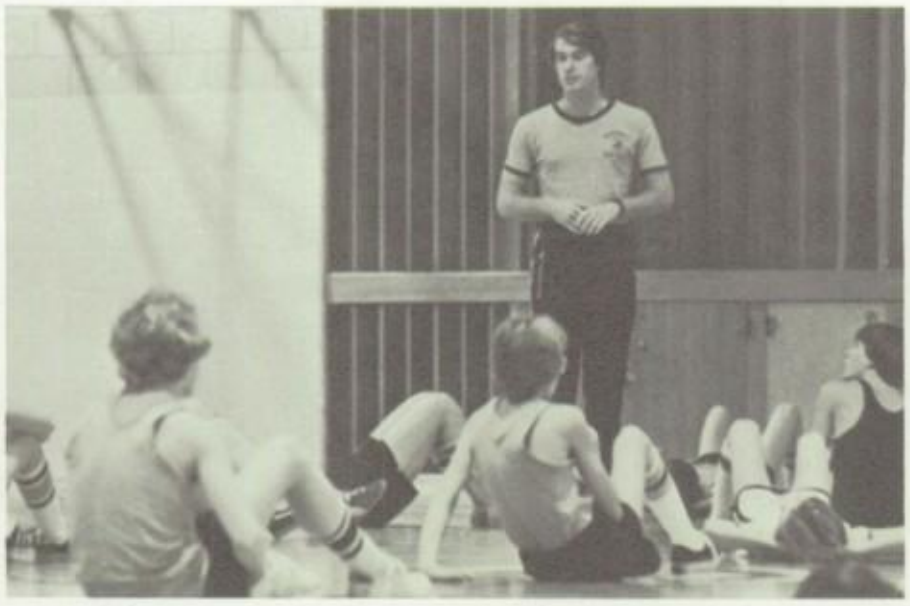
Mr. William Norton attempts to impress his insights of the game on his students while displaying the correct way to grip a club.

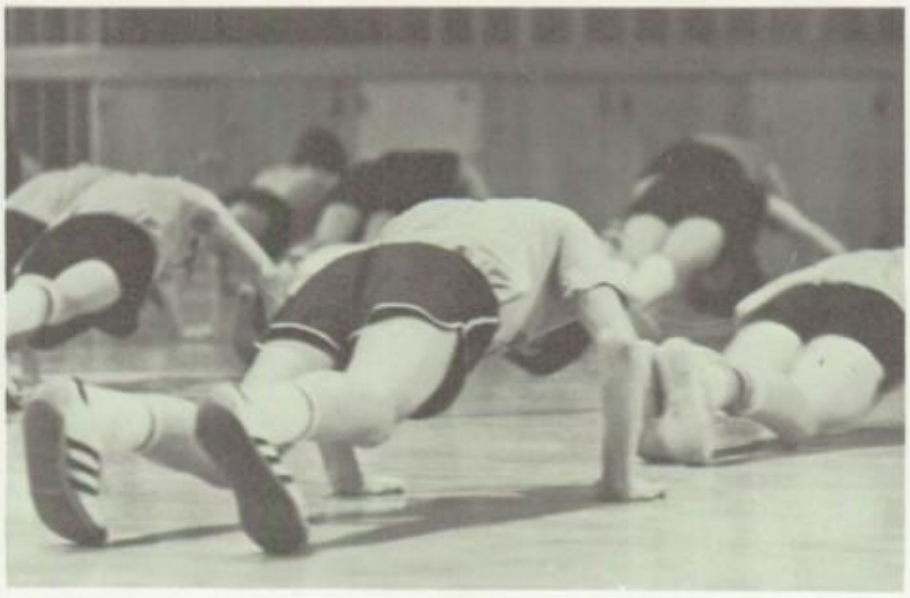
Mr. Foster carries physical education out of the lockerroom and into the classroom as he lectures upon the proper treatment of skin burns in his first aid course.



Jim Flynn, after finding no other alternative, goes up for the shot over the outstretched arm of defender Joe Grace as fellow teammates and opponents show varying degrees of interest.

Mr. Foster lets his class rest after a particularly strenuous set of jacks as he clues them in to the day's activities.





Freshman and Sophomores alike give that last ounce of effort that ever elusive tenth pushup before collapsing.

Mr. Albert Fracassa imparts his philosophy of perseverance upon his students before they hit the lockerroom to prepare for class.

Choral director, Mr. Matthew Walsh, leads Paul Haynsz and Dennis O'Hare slowly through a challenging passage of a song during practice.

Stepping out of his office, Music moderator Br. Charles Mc Kenna greets the band "good morning".

Madrigals: Mike Kitz, Chris McKenna, and Steve Heidrich give their voices a try in a Bach piece.

Early on a full morning, "coach" James Collins, Band Director, gives the band a tal on the importance of pride to a successful show.

Maintenance

Spoons and Screwdrivers Maintain Students, School

Mrs. Connie Fortuna and Mrs. Eva Stack, await the final onrush of hungry students before closing up the cafeteria for the day.

Mrs. Eileen Cummings disgustedly changes a fifty, while Mrs. Audria Bannasch rings up another lunch.

Part of the part-time maintenance staff, Mr. Tim Leary, attacks a heavily-burdened cafeteria floor.

Maintenance head Mr. George Lyons explains the department's set-up to Provincial, Br. John McGowan, during his visit to Brother Rice.

Dedication Is A Way Of Life

The Christian Brothers of Ireland are a very unique group of men. They are intelligent teachers guiding high school students toward college. This certainly takes dedication toward the whole Rice community. Besides regular curriculum, all the Brothers participate in some extra curricular activity. Some coach and/or play in the sports programs, while others work on activities like the annual Rice Marian drama production. When in the maonastery, they do schoolwork, they meditate, or they play a fast game of cards. Their days start and end with prayers in the chapel. A Brother will never be heard saying he has nothing to do.

Br. Daniel Oehrle, an avid horticulturist, adds beauty to Brother Rice while he pursues his hobby around the campus.

Brothers Gregory Smyth, Walter Chang, and Charles McKenna relax in the "family" room after a long, hard, but fulfilling day with students.

Br. Charles McKenna, House Superior, makes the rounds among the Brothers at dinner to help solve any problems one might have.

During Wednesday Mass, Brothers Francis Dalton, Walter Chang and Benjamin Favero receive communion from Fr. Theo in the chapel.

Billie and Regina, the monastery cooks, put lots of effort into preparing another sumptuous meal for the Brothers' dinner.

Thanks for all that you individually have done this year to keep Brother Rice the Number One school that it is.

Br. Dalton

Rice offers the prescription for those who wish to achieve the ideal of "A healthy mind in a healthy body."

Guy H. Morel

The success this community meets is a tribute to the people assembled here. To those who give so much, peace.

Br. Driscoll

Do it better than it's ever been done before.

Coach Fracassa

The quality of the Rice education continues to grow. That is because we nurture it. Let's continue.

Br. McKenna

The mystery of Brother Rice remains just that for me. Maybe if I solved the mystery, I wouldn't want to stay.

Anthony Sincic

As a new teacher said to me, pointing to the Crucifix in his classroom, "HE IS EVERYWHERE AND IN EACH ONE."

Sr. King.

Your education is designed to liberate you from faults of the uneducated. We want you to be good and free.

Student Life

Assemblies Induce Unity Amongst Student Body

The pep rally - a conglamoration of dedicated students, band members, cheerleaders, faculty, coaches, and sports teams, all united to share in one of the most spirit engendering experiences during the school year. In addition to the occasional pep rally, assemblies are held for orientation talks in August, class fund raising programs in October, and graduation rehearsals in April. In fact, this year a short assembly was held to congratulate the Varsity football team and to present the state championship trophy to the school.

Although it may seem that the school holds an excess of student assemblies, this is never the case. The assembly has always had a valid reason behind it, whether it be to engender school spirit, motivate fund raisers, or simply convey information on a given matter. The Rice assembly will always remain an important tool toward a common goal.

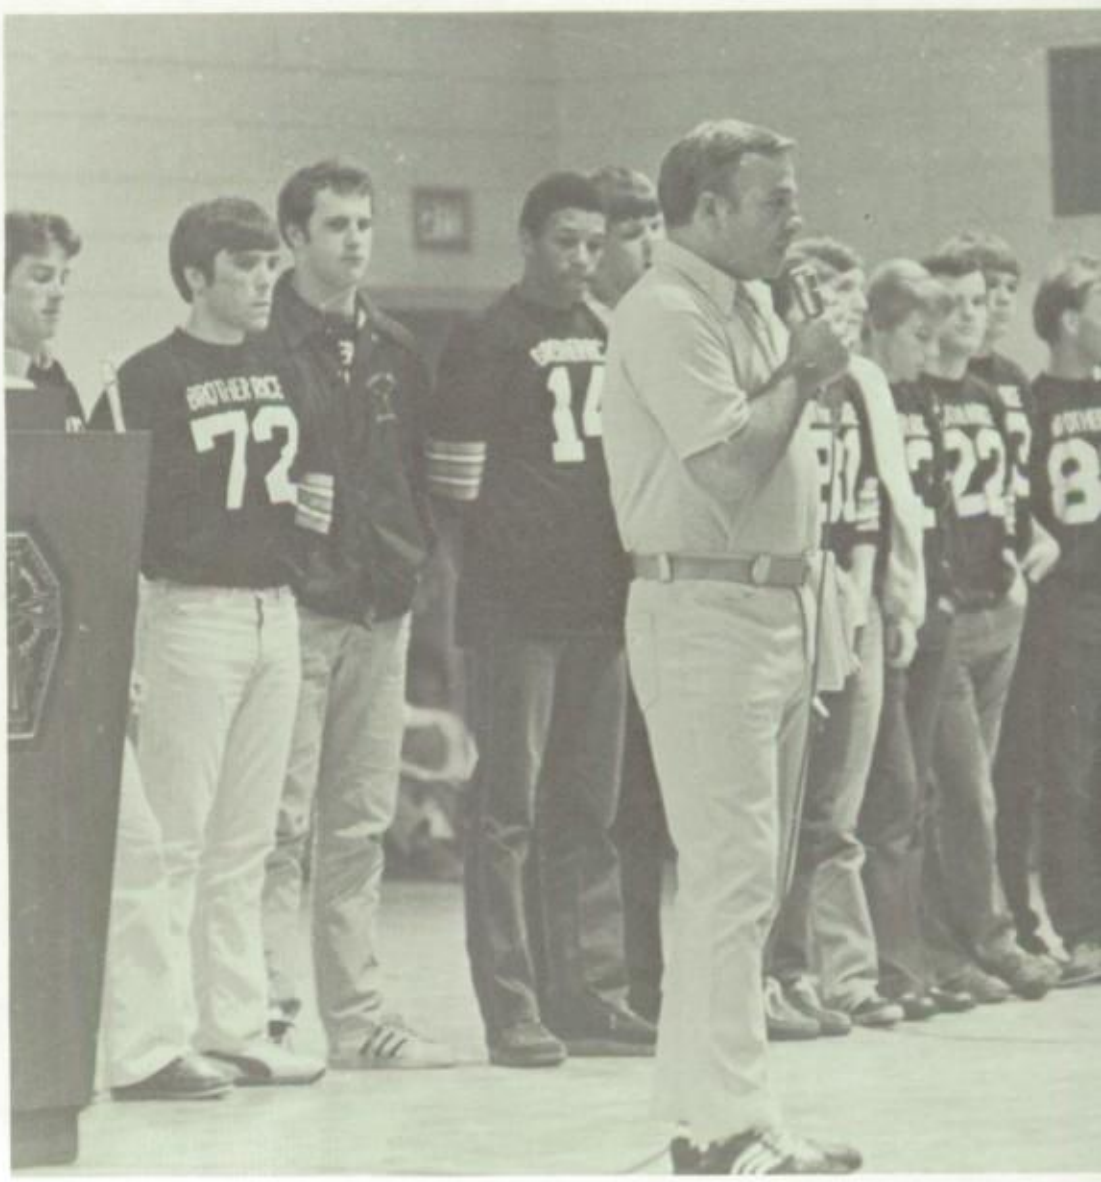
Coach Fracassa expounds on the agility and determination that makes Rice a winning team.

In a blantant display of defiance, sophomore Paul Grattarola blows his "Bazooka" at Mr. Kozlowski.



As the band strikes up the National Anthem, Honor Guard members, with flag, rifle, and saber, remain at attention.

Br. Dalton begins each assembly with a reflective prayer.

Juniors Win Field Day, Upset Senior Tradition

Junior Rod LaRees high-steps it over the crossbar on his way to a record setting time on the Obstacle Course.

Contrary to previous tradition, the Juniors this year defeated the Class of '78, following a long, hard struggle on both sides. This may well be the result of a number of changes in the line of Field Day events intended to encourage a greater number of the student body to participate. These changes met with much success.

New events included the Frisbee Throw, the Football Punt, Pass and Kick, Ping-Pong, Chess, a Pie-Eating Contest, and a Surprise Event. The frisbee, basketball, and football events were open to all students, their success depending upon the dedication of a class member to participate in them.

Intense competition characterized many evnets. As on previous occasions, the chariot of the Class of '78 overturned, but determined Seniors managed to bring in their distinguished driver for a respectable second place finish. Spirit-seekers swarmed the bleachers, eager to watch the final minutes of the Junior-Senior Volleyball game. Originality characterized the themes of class t-shirts worn by many.

This year's Field Day chairman was Senior Pat Hayes, accompanied by Junior Fred McDonald. Their hard work provided for a smooth-running day of great enjoyment for all students and faculty involved.

A judicious group of theatrical critics view the crowd-pleasing Sophomore Class skit prior to evaluation.

Boy's Bowl

A menagerie of facial expressions accompanies the Juniors' Tug-of-War efforts. The Juniors went on the win in the Field Day event.

Faculty get a kick and contestants get a face full, as Judge Sincic signals a foul during the Pie-Eating contest.

With tongue in cheek, Senior Tom LaVergne anxiously waits to put some spin on the ball for a successful return.

After leveling mutant Len Perna and the Faculty Bar, Al "Facestomper" Fitzsimmons, along with his comrade Kieran "Oh Wow" Mullen, make a proposal to droidback Chuch "CCPU" Klucka.

As the C.C. center hikes the ball, an awesome line of defensice Ricemen go in for the kill. Only one Shamrock touchdown penetrated Rice's defense early in the game. The defensive squad relies on its agility for widespread success on the playing field.

Fourth Quarter Drive Yeilds Warriro Victory

Boy's Bowl '77 upheld the tradition of providing a rough, hard hitting contest between two psyched-up teams with great talent. Within the first five minutes of the first quarter, Catholic Central put the pressure on with a touchdown from "all the way down the field". Never a dull moment, Rice held off until the fourth quarter to make the decisive move, which yielded a 9-6 victory over Catholic Central. Rice's passing offense was used more often during the final quarter of the game. This gave the Warriors their needed advantage over the Shamrocks.

The BR Band supplied halftime entertainment by playing a Musical Cocktail and a "National Salute" for anxious spectators. In the Musical Cocktail, each section of the band plays its own melody. The finale consisted of these tunes being played together in harmony. The traditional parade of class floats along with the beautiful Homecoming court and their escourts followed the band's presentation. The sophomores won the float competition, with their rocketship creation. Second place went to the Juniors, followed by the Seniors and the Freshmen.

Those who went to the Homecoming dance enjoyed dancing to the music of the band, "Masquerade". The group offered a variety of dancing entertainment, ranging from the "Beatles" to the newest rock and roll hits by "Boston". This year's event was held at the Mercy Conference Center in Detroit, upon a majority vote by the Student Council. Homecoming dance chairman, Chip West, was responsible for the successful evening of dancing and traditional Homecoming festivities.

The 1977 Homecoming Queen, Court, and Escorts: Colleen McGowan and Paul Carron, Lori Barnowski and James Allen, Kim Kuhn and Gordon Geheb, and Lori Williams (Queen) and Joel Grandelius.

A quick pair of Brother Rice defensive linemen, soon to be accompanied by another, bring down a desperate C.C. quarterback for a yardage loss.

Homecoming couples confirm their attendence prior to the successful Victory dance at Mercy.

The first place Sophomore Rocketship bears the inscription "Rice Touchdown".

Quarterback Tom LaVergne and offensive back Steve Redmond watch in expectation as Senior Tom Beale reaches for a successful reception.

IM Participation Provides Keen Competition

The 1977-78 Intramural Sports program has retained its intense competitive attitude from previous years. Scores were close, and errors few, amongst rivaling teams. In every area Football, Basketball, and Bowling the teams played at their best. Racquetball along with Volleyball, revived from the 1975-76 season, is an ever increasing in popularity. The Brothers also added a spark of interest to the already large, program. Their participation in every sport strengthened the competitive spirit.

In all the Intramural Sports nearly every student in the school had a chance to beat a friend. The Intramural program at Brother Rice this year has concentrated upon engendering ideals of sportsmanship and providing outlets of enthusiasm for everybody as their major goals.

Football

As Senior Scott Kluge makes good contact for a long punt, Mike McCarthy gets a head start downfield.

Volleyball

M.B.C.'s Jim Grawberg jumps to spike the ball for a successful return much to the dismay of opponent Steve DiClemente.

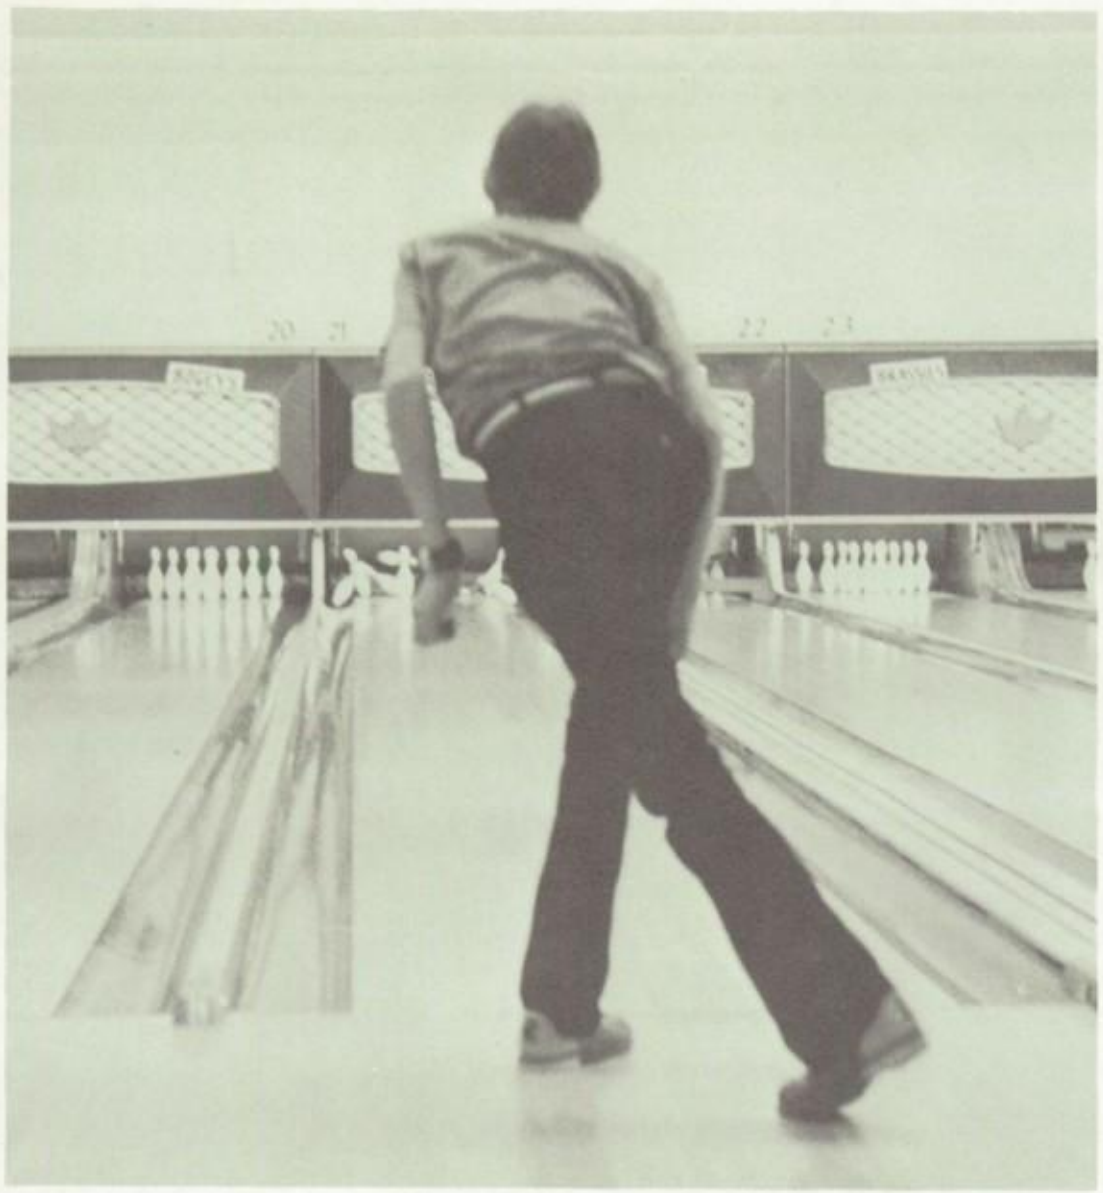
Sideline referees Jeff Thompson, Paul Krane, and Mike Lueck anticipate illegal motions while keeping score.

Basketball

M.B.C.'s Brian Bremner finds himself surrounded by "Freebirds", as he desperately looks for a fellow teammate to hand off to.

Referee Br. Segvich signals a freethrow to basketball players after a three point play, as Mike Burns concentrates on the shot.

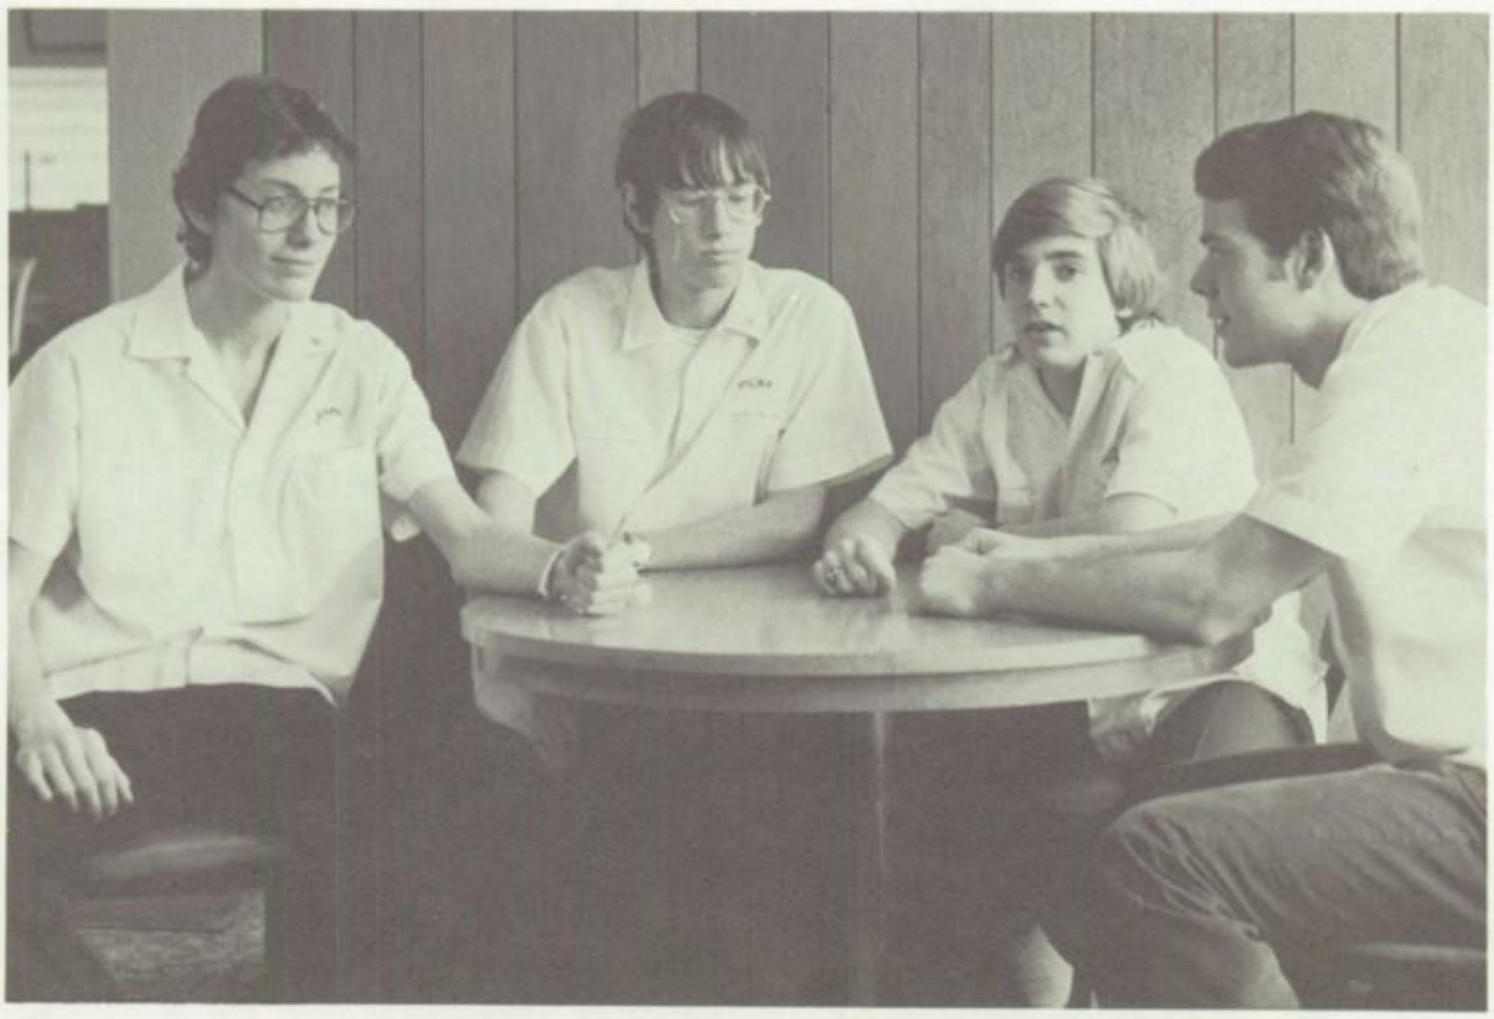
Opponents Chuck Gajewski and Marty Pickett vie for the jump shot, as others wait in anticipation for the ball to come their way.



Ausdauer captain, Dave Simmons, tries to stare down the pins after a "unique" southpaw follow-through, but a pin remains standing, and just laughs at him.

Bowling

League secretary Pat Hayes, along with teammates Tom LaVergne, and Jim McNair, monopolizes the scoretable.



Spirit of '78'ers Jon Ball, Mike Pawlus, Steve Heidrich, and Dave Roberts take a minute to discuss their game strategy prior to a big match against arch-rival WKPM Radio 300 who has yet to show up.

Rice All Star, Jim McNair, prepares to block a shot from Marian's Varsity team, while teammate Jim Grawburg gets ready for an assist.

Mike Kitz demonstrates unique magical talents as he makes his wand di appear during the talent show.

Spirit Renewed Through Mutual Competition

The 1978 Rice-Marian weekend took a new direction this year with better competition between the two schools. Rice coordinator, Mike Mead, came up with some innovative ideas which added interest to the competition. Starting on Thursday night, the Quiz 'Em brought out the intellectual capabilities of Br. Rice. Trivia questions dominated the Quiz 'Em rather than the usual classroom type of questions. Later that night, the Rice faculty defended their volleyball title against the faculty of Marian. However, the Rice Allstars were not as fortunate against the tough Marian Varsity.

Friday evening, the latest fashions were displayed by immodest students from both schools. Afterwards, the academy award winning movie, "The Sting" was featured.

The Band, "Shelter", composed of all Rice students entertained at Saturday evening's dance, playing a wide range of rock and roll. Sunday's talent show highlighted the weekend, as students from both schools presented their abilities. By the end, both Rice and Marian spirit had been renewed.

Joe Muer entertains the crowd at the talent show, while adding to the array of musi by playing a James Taylor favorite on his guitar.

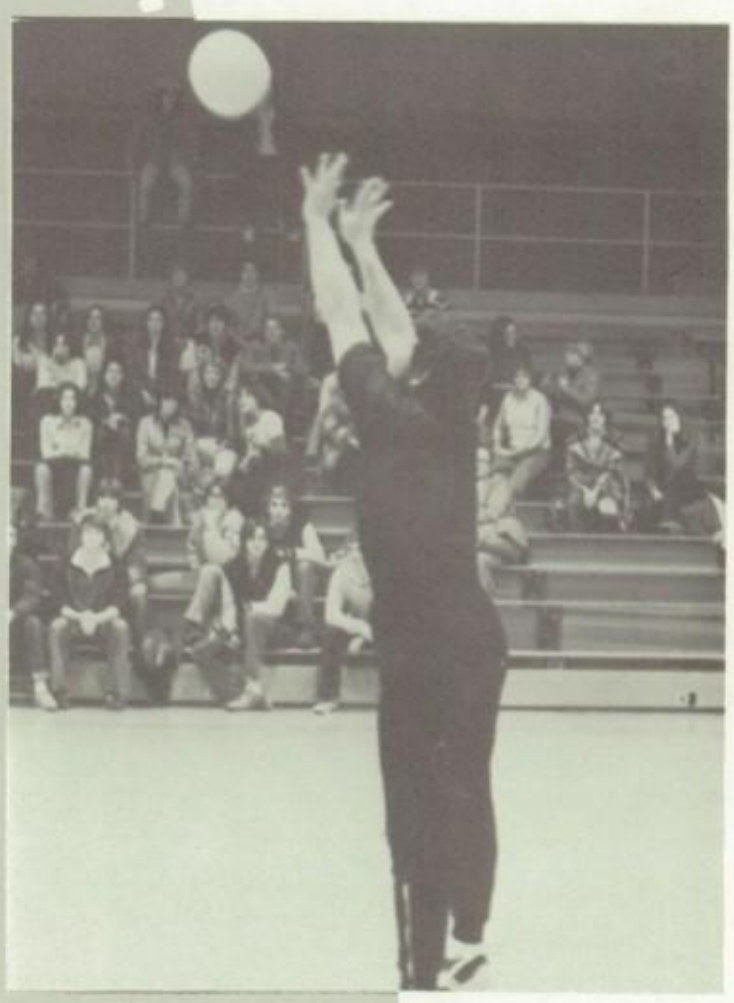
Senior panelists Paul Carron, Pat Hayes, Paul Ferrari and Steve Heidrich await an incorrect answer from across the moat, while trying to arrive at a solution on their own. Rice finally won the Thursday night Quiz 'Em, to uphold their previous title.

A suave Marty Crane displays the latest European styles along with Kim Pulte during the Friday night fashion show.



In an attempt to defend the faculty volleyball title, Br. Smyth makes the return in front of watchful spectators.

U.N. Legislators Seek Answers to World Issues

This year, Model United Nations was a huge success, with one of the largest turnouts ever. Organized by Linda Pilette, Cathy Smith and Kieran Mullen, the General Assembly discussed everything from killer satellites to South African Aparteids. Award winners included Tim Noonan, Jeff Thompson, Mike Neus and Tom Fitzsimmons for individual speaker awards and Rod McLachlan, Ken Pienta, Jim Cull and Dave Pietrowski for the minor delegation award. The major award went to the Brother Rice - Mercy delegation which included Greg Bousquette and Bob Carey.

Marian's Model United Nations served both as a learning experience and as a screening process for qualifying for the North American Invitational Model United Nations (N.A.I.M.U.N.), where a group of Brother Rice students were invited and represented the Federal Republic of Germany. Most students go on to attend Brother Rice's Model Senate which is held later on in the year.

The 1978 N.A.I.M.U.N. Delegation: Dave Pietrowski, Rod McLachlan, Kieran Mullen, Ken Pienta, Greg Bousquette, Tom Fitzsimmons, Bob Carey, and moderator Br. Michael Segvich. Jim Cull not pictured.

Model United Nations

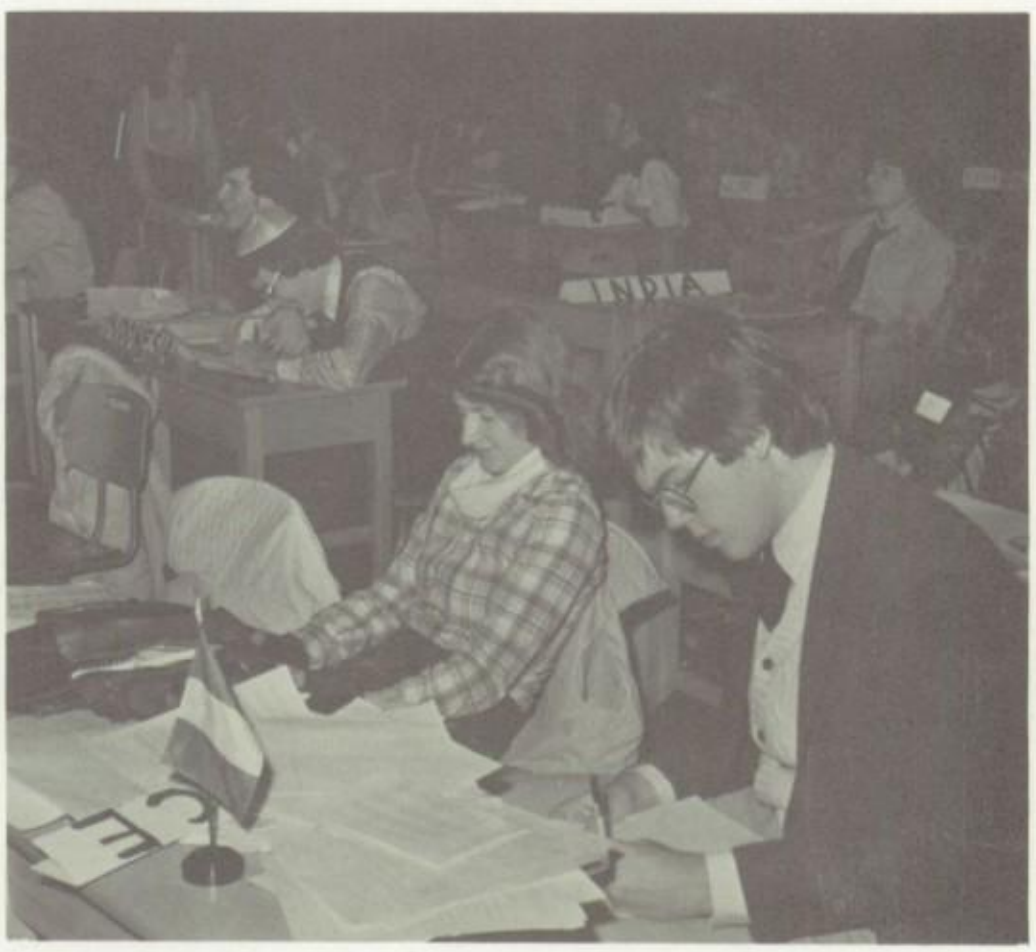
An overview of the General Assembly reveals many delegates intent up reviewing and revising opening speeches.

While Linda Dailey goes on talking about South African Aparteids, U.S delegate Rod McLachlan waits his turn to make fellow delegates fall asl

Security Council delegates spend their time in committee making proposals and promoting arguments for world peace.

Here, U.A.R. delegate, Mike Neus, consults the U.S.S.R. on nuclear free zones.

Head Chairman Kieran Mullen began preparations for Model U.N. by recruiting new delegates during Frosh Fun Night.



Sophomore Bob Carey of France decides to put his signature on an amendment for a resolution currently being discussed.

Packing food drive comestibles for needy families are students John McNulty, Rob Biskup, and Paul Broughton.

Students Bob O'Donnell and Tom Williams clean one of th statues in the school chapel.

Brother McKenna and Father Gomez distribute the Eucharist during the school's opening mass.

Mr. Popson gives final directions to student volunteers as the finish loading cars for the food drive.

Spiritual Life

Students' Lives Enriched Through Spiritual Growth Opportunities

Father Gomez, School chaplain, Distributes the Eucharist during and after school in the chapel.

In addition to academics, Br. Rice, as a private Catholic school, attempts to provide the student with opportunities which engender spiritual growth. A prayer is said prior to the beginning of each class; Masses are celebrated in the chapel daily; and theology class discuss, on a more personal basis, aspects of the Catholic faith. School masses are also celebrated throughout the year on the various occasions. This year's Student Liturgist, David Simmons, is responsible for arranging these celebrations, having to choose appropriate readings and songs, and to fill in serving and ushering positions.

Community projects which exemplify the Christian attitude are also held. The 1977-78 Thanksgiving-Christmas Food Drive was the most successful ever, and the weekly mission collections have been very generous. The National Honor Society also participated in various community projects throughout the year. It is hoped that in the years to come, Br. Rice will continue to stress the spiritual life as an important part of high school education.

Freshmen

Class of 1981

The Freshman Class of 1981, consisting of two hundred and ninety students, adapted themselves to their new environment quite easily. On Field Day, they united to represent a formidable rival against the Upperclassmen. Under the moderation of Brother Herron, they were also successful in constructing an original class float for the Boys' Bowl.

The Class of 81 boasts a strong student government consisting mainly of three class officers and the Freshman Forum, established a few years ago to represent the Freshman class in the Student Council. Six out of the twelve members which form the Forum are present at every Student Council meeting. The Freshman student government is under the control of Class President Tim Noonan, who gave his class a strong voice in student affairs.

Rice Doors Open; Migration Begins

The reopening of school brings a classload of new faces along with the old ones; all getting ready for nine months of study and formal learning. New books and supplies are needed, and many students require schedule changes. Brother Rice

Sophomores

Class of 1980

With a year of student life experience behind them, the Sophomore Class demonstrated its involvement by under taking several organized activities. Cooperation and spirit gave them a first place finish in the float competition held during Homecoming Weekend. Later on in the year, the sophomores organized a successful dance to help with the financing of their Semi-Formal held in May.

Retaining their reputation of nonconformity, they often took hold of many Student Council discussions at many board meetings. Many of their suggestions made in Council were used by the Senior officers while planning various activities and events.

The class of '80 has shown that they have a sense of leadership potential, both in student affairs and in the Class unity which characterizes each Sophomore.

Brother Rice

Class of 1979

The Class of '79 displayed their pride and determination to produce a strong and successful year. They proved themselves worthy when they transformed into a forceful unit and defeated the Seniors in Field Day, creating the second Junior upset in Rice's history for Homecoming competition.

The class has shown great strength in student council and student affairs. One of their major accomplishments, the Brother Rice directory, was re-introduced and printed by the Junior Class for the entire student body.

The Juniors can certainly look upon the past year as a successful one. They have proven themselves triumphant both athletically and academically. The Class of '79 will undoubtedly progress onward in a similar fashion as Seniors.

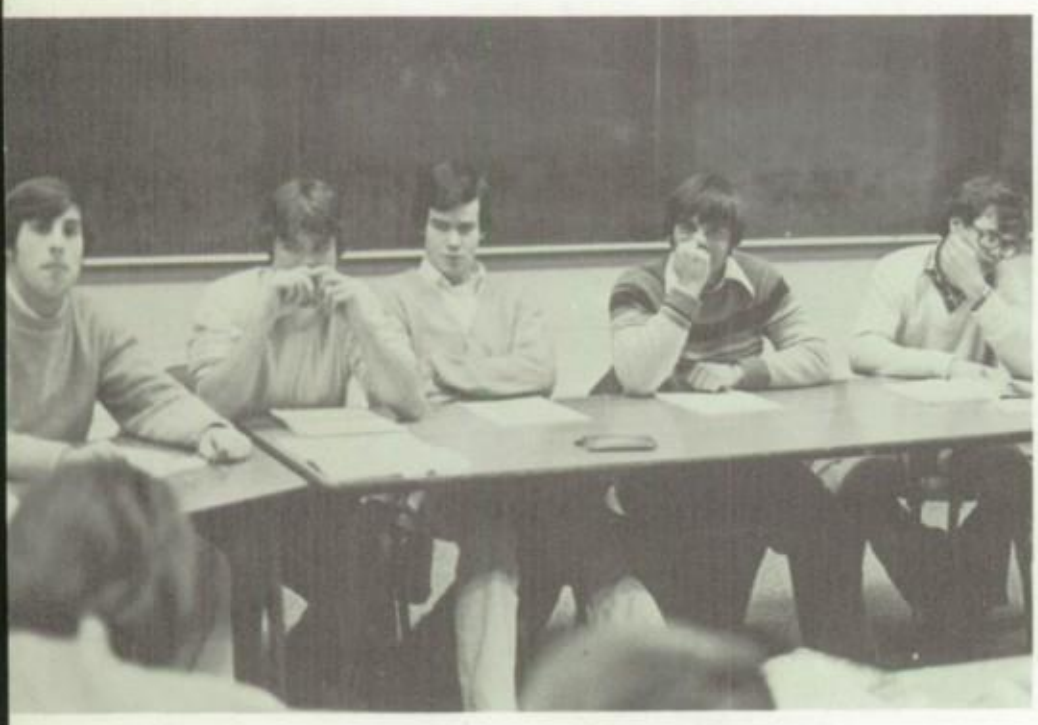
Clubs and Organizations

Student Council Secretary, Pat Hayes, and Treasurer, Chip West, watch on in disbelief as President John Monahan doodles during a lull in a meeting.

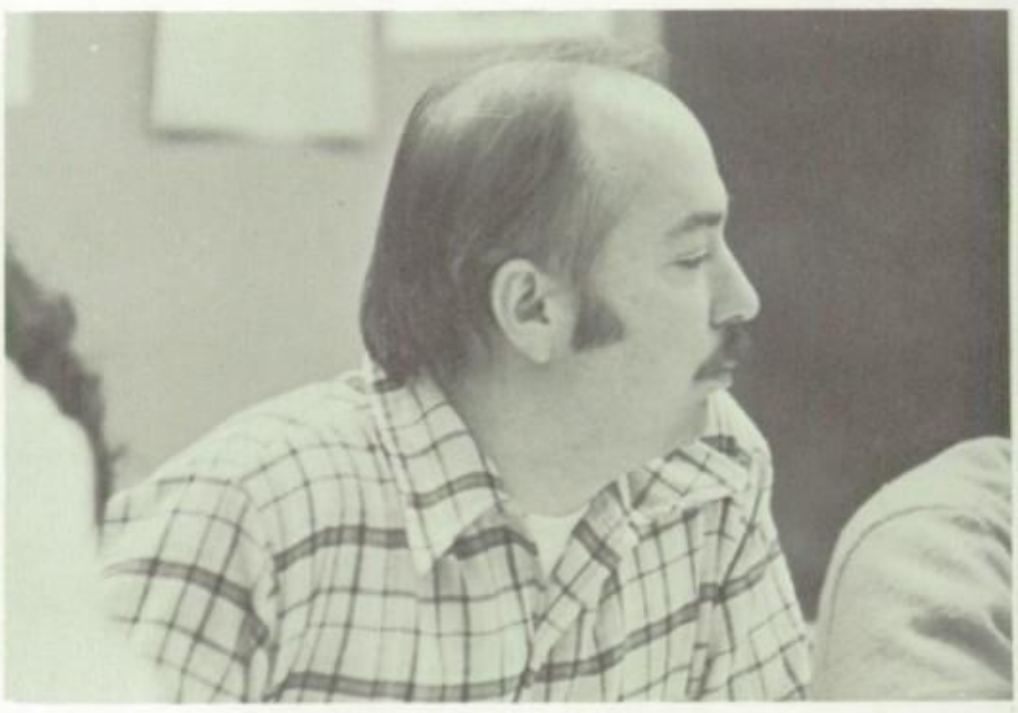
Student Council

Senior Class President, Mike Mead, and Vice President, Len Perna, wait in the wings for the start of another Student Council sponsored pep rally.

A result of Student Council effort, A troupe of frisbee throwers entertains a half-time crowd.



The Senior Class members of the Council show varied degrees of disenchantment over the rejection of the proposal to connect Rice and Marian.



Br. Robert Koppes, veteran moderator of the Student Council, vetoes yet another imaginative but implausible suggestion from the floor.

Student Government Innovative Under Inexperienced Leadership

After the March elections of '77, the Student Council Board was headed by three inexperienced, yet ambitious students. John Monahan (president), Patrick Hayes (secretary), and Chip West (treasurer) were enthusiastic about bringing new ideas and plans to the council.

Even before school opened, the council had met to discuss a new plan of action for the activities which they would carry out. Innovations in Field Day and Rice-Marian Weekend were talked about, and new activities were brought to the attention of the twenty-eight member council.

The council took their first action on Field Day '77 by opening more events to more students so as to get everyone into the action. Later, at the half time of one of the basketball games, the council brought in a team of frizbee throwers to entertain the crowd. As the year progressed, Rice-Marian Weekend was put together with some new aspects. The usual faculty volleyball game was replaced by a basketball game played by the students. Another council run activity, the Blood Bank, brought record numbers of willing students to donate their precious blood for the Red Cross.

Between all these events the Student Council was working on other small projects and legislation for the students. With the three inexperienced officers leading the group this year, and with the help of Brother Robert Koppes, (moderator), the results were excellent. This year's Student Council was able to work with the student body to bring success in all the new and improved sponsored events.

NHS Members Provide Invaluable Services

The 1977-78 Aquinas Chapter of the National Honor Society has been one of the most active groups during the past year at Br. Rice. The NHS members, under the direction of Senior president Steve Heidrich, Junior vice-president Mike Wheatly, and moderator Br. A. Cannon, have undertaken many service projects to aid all persons of the Br. Rice community. The largest of these projects is the tutoring provided to those students needing just a little extra help in their academic studies. As a new idea for the tutoring program, a small donation has been asked for, in return for the tutoring service. These donations have been generous and have amounted to well over $600. This money has been sent to the training center for student Brothers in the Western Province.

Other additional projects, including care of the Lost and Found, tours of the school for various organizations, and serving the Mother's Club Luncheon, have been performed with eagerness and enthusiasm.

As every year, two seniors were elected to receive applications for a $1000 NHS Scholarship. This year seniors Paul Ferrari and Kenneth Pienta received the most votes and are definitely good nominees to represent the Chapter.

Through leadership and involvement, the Aquinas Chapter has been exemplary of the high standards of the N.H.S.

Kieran Mullen practices his debatably "perfected" style as he gingerly gives his final argument.

Debators Gain Nationwide Acclaim as State Champs

Every night after school, each Saturday, countless hours in law and medical libraries and numerous practice rounds provided a rich reward as this year's Brother Rice Debate Team enjoyed its most successful season in school history. Winning the Class B State Championship, placing third in the National Forensic League District Tournament and qualifying for the Catholic National Finals illustrated that the long hours and hard work returned large dividends. Senior Kieran Mullen and Junior Greg Bousquette led the Rice team to National and State wide recognition by posting a 9-1 record in Catholic League, finishing second at the Mid-American Knights of Columbus tournament and making elimination rounds at several other major tournaments. The Junior Varsity and Novice contingent provided a fourth place trophy at the Plymouth Salem tournament. Already work has begun on next year's topic as the future promises to build on the success of the past and insure that Brother Rice and quality are synonymous in the Debate world.

Yearbook

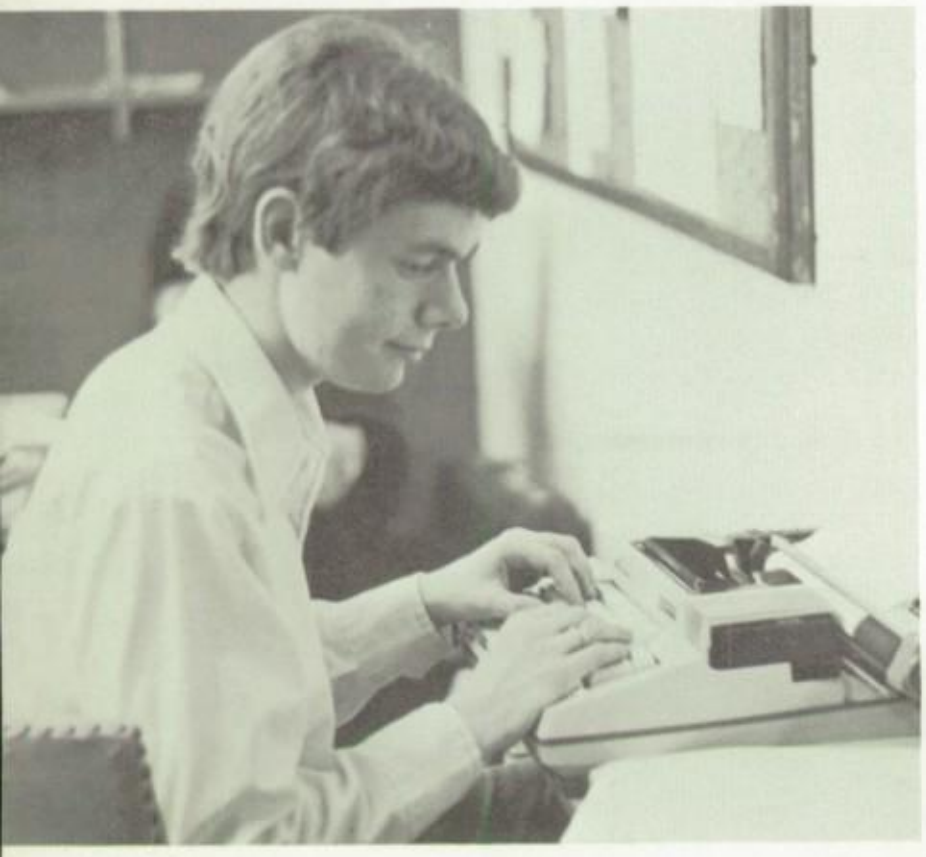
Uncompromising Standards Characteristic of Quest

Each year the task of recording the many faces of Brother Rice falls into the hands of a small, yet highly dedicated group of students. The 1977-78 senior dominated Quest staff, like its predecessors, is determined to meet the challenge under the leadership of editor-in-chief, Paul Ferrari.

This year is proving to be the most eventful in the school's recent history. The arrival of a new principal, state championships in football, golf, and debate, and a new and successful Parents' Club fund raiser are but a few of the types of events which have characterized this year's activities. The job of the Quest staff is to capture such milestones as well as the more minor accomplishments of the school community. In order to facilitate this demanding task, large amounts of time, effort and energy have to be sacrificed.

Despite the return of five veteran staffers, the yearbook found itself plagued with early production problems which interferred with the timetable and which delayed the publishing of the book. As the year progressed, a sense of leadership, motivation and responsibility was instilled within the staff and as a result much progress toward the completion of the book was made.

This year's Quest staff is following the philosophy of previous staffs that quality is the only standard by which this yearbook can be measured.



Pat Hayes fights to stay awake as he grinds out the index upon his electric typewriter, a most valuable contribution to the Quest.

One thing that made the Chieftain this year was the photography. Here, Head Photographer Mike Groves does some darkroom work for the next edition of the paper.

Alterations to the Chieftain a Success

Bill Conklin, his staff of editors, and writers have worked hard this year to bring the school the most innovative newspaper yet encountered. Under the moderation of Mr. Marcel Gagnon, the newspaper generated much student involvement, interest, spirit, and controversy.

This year's paper made its entrance with a number of significant changes. It was enlarged in order to furnish space for reporting the ever increasing developments of Brother Rice activities. Before each article or column, bylines were added so that the writers received the recognition they deserved. Many new feature articles supplemented the usual news, such as: Joe Rzeppa's "Joe Rzeppa's Column," Mark Flaker's "Film Reviews," and Rob Secontine's "Progressiview." Also, periodic reviews of new albums by Chuck Woods and "Sports Notebook" by Len Perna were welcomed columns of interest. Classified ads were also new and at times provided some humor.

Extensive Marching, Concert Seasons Keep Band Playing, Crowds Cheering

The band: a myriad of sounds, a myriad of meanings. Perhaps that definition best describes the widespread attributes of the 1977-78 Brother Rice Marching and Concert Band.

Beginning in the fall, the band assembled itself to make a trip to the Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp off Lake Michigan to refine a new "stride step" for the upcoming football season. Supplying a pep band for the away games, the band presented timely half-time shows for fans at Seaholm Field, Wisner Stadium, and the Silverdome. Two rousing pep rally performances throughout the year were a part of the band's appearances.

Not long after the lengthy marching season, the annual Berkley Christmas Parade came around. This, together with the Christmas Concert, filled the air with holiday music.

After the first of the year, bandsmen found themselves hosting the Michigan Honors Band Tryouts. A number of Ricemen were selected to actually try out with several further selected to play in it in April. The annual Solo and Ensemble Contest also recognized individual talent by rating the performances.

As a whole, the band occupied itself with making a second attempt to hold the annual marching band banquet, only to be snowed out as in December. Musically, the band prepared for a competition in which they recorded three pieces on a tape and sent it in for judging.

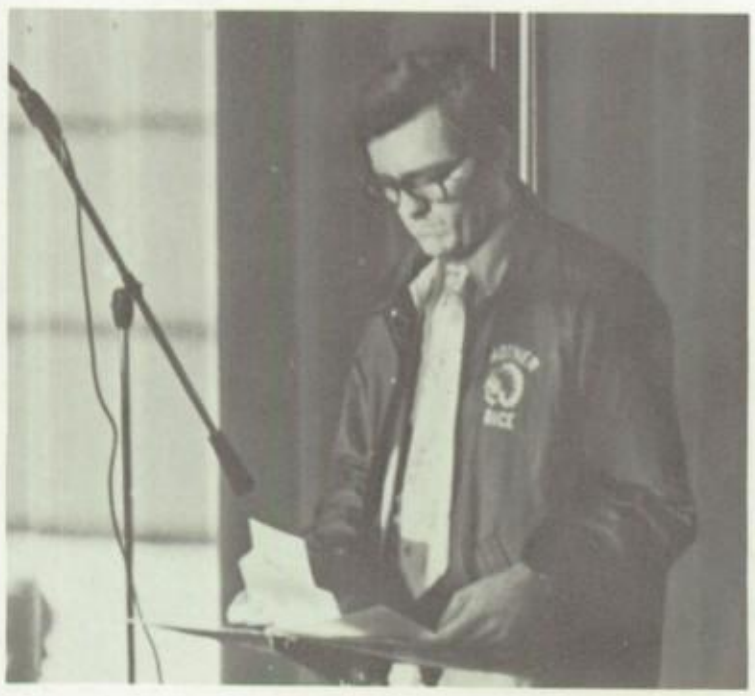
The climax of concert band, however, certainly had to be the trip to Toronto. Earlier in the year, the band anticipated a trip by undertaking a calendar sales program. This helped to cover most of the cost of the trip for a majority of band members. Travelling by bus, the band was there on tour for three days. Not only did the band present a concert for Neil McNeal High School, the band's sponsor, but also, the jazz band made its debut for the year. The band also had the opportunity to appreciate such sites as Casa Loma, the Ontario Science Museum, and the Canadian National Tower.

Not to forget about the folks back home, the concert and jazz bands assembled an evening of music for them to enjoy at the spring concert in May.

Furthermore, as a part of tradition, the band properly recognized the B.R. seniors by playing Pomp and Circumstance, the National Anthem, and the Grand March from Aida at Ford Auditorium on graduation day.

Finally, the band elected to take time out on a Saturday afternoon to go to the Saint Francis Home for boys in order to help make their Special Olympics Day a little more special.

Thus, the band through the combined efforts of Mr. James S. Collins, Band Director, Br. Charles McKenna, Music Moderator, the band officers and members, the year was indeed a myriad of sounds and meanings.



Before going outside to prepare a half-time show, Mr. Collins arranges the music which is to be played.

John Gach, Bill Smyk, and Dave Simmons put it together for the upcoming Spring Concert.

'...And the Band Plays on...,' on the Field, and Stage

The Boys' Bowl crowd demands a quality half-time show, and the marching band is determined to satisfy them with their introductory, "swinging" musical cocktail.

P.D.Q. Bach demonstrates that mouthpieces are sufficient to play a song, as the band performs his "Simply Grand Minuet" at the spring concert.

Mr. Collins gives the sign for a creshendo as the banc practices before the curtain rises.

One of the regular features of the band is to arose school pride and spirit by playing the schoo song as well as a collection of other Big Ten fight songs.

Mr. Walsh introduces the Concert Chorus, consisting of veteran vocalists, and their first number, a familiar pop selection, to concert goers.

Under the direction of Mr. Walsh, the elite Madrigal chorus performs a difficult Baroque piece for a large crowd at the Spring Concert.

Chorale

Under the new directorship of Mr. Matthew Walsh, the chorale, consisting of the beginning, concert, and Madrigal choruses, assumed a new character, one which was commended by many.

Reflective of the chorale's abilities were the successful Christmas and spring concerts. Innovative speaking choruses in which pieces are spoken to rhythm were a part of the well-received repertoires.

On the outside, the increased select Madrigal group was responsible for performances at a nursing home and at Midnight Mass at Blessed Sacrament Cathedral. The concert chorus partook in the Second Annual Diocesan Chorale Festival and fared very well.

All in all, Mr. Walsh has brought with him experience and leadership which have proven to be invaluable to the combined Brother Rice and Marian choruses.

J.C. Superstar: Record Crowds, Peak Performance

Drawing in more than twenty-eight hundred viewers during their four night stand, the cast of Jesus Christ Superstar set the highest attendance records ever in Rice's history for a dramatic performance. The great appeal of the opera is mostly due to the effect which it had upon the audience. Special lighting, sound, and visual effects helped to make the production a musical success. The band provided a spectacular performance of its own with the talents of many musicians, among them drummer Steve Laclede and guitarist Jeff Mutual. A behind the scenes stage crew also helped to make the performance run smoothly.

When auditions for the production began in mid-January, the doubts and fears of putting on such a difficult opera began to surface. But as the operation progressed under the direction of Br. Dogan, the cast began to gain its confidence. Daily practice revealed and refined acting talents. Such was the preparation for their opening night performance, a performance which gave them the first of four consecutive standing ovations.

Honor Guard

Honor Guard's Dedication Exhibited at Games, Parades

The Honor Guard presents the colors at a Pep Rally. The seniority ranges from the sabres and rifles to the flags.

The Brother Rice Honor Guard is an important part of the band at football pre-game and halftime shows. But in addition to doing this, the Honor Guard adds sparkle and color to the band in parades such as the Berkely parade and the Bloomfield Hills Fourth of July Parade. They also usher at Band and Choral concerts and at the annual Rice-Marian play. They spend many hours during the school year practicing with the band in the mornings and by themselves after school once a week. They also practiced during the summer developing their rifle skills. Over the summer, Jim McNair went to a course offered in rifle handling. He came back and taught what he learned to Jim Anderson, Mark Reising and Kirk Van Cleave. The only Junior in the squad is Peter Heidrich. He will be the one who shouts the commands during the shows. This year, that position was a group effort between the four Seniors in the squad. Bringing up the rear of the Honor Guard were the two Freshmen Peter Lopez and Paul Clark.

Jim Anderson, Kirk Van Cleave and Peter Heidrich protect the colors while Mark Reising and Paul Clark give due respect.

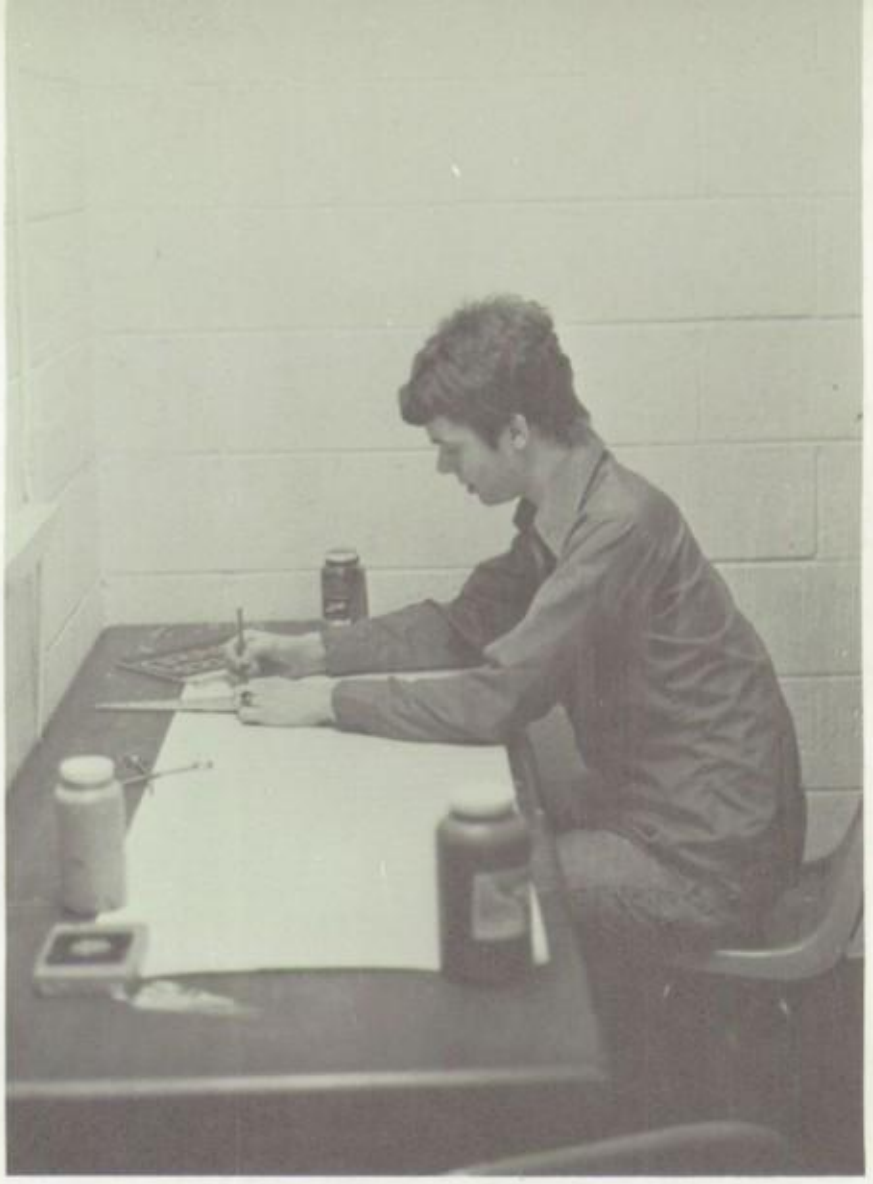
Pep Club Sparks Spirit In Enthusiastic Crowds

The 1977-78 Brother Rice Pep Club involved many students in painting for the Stong Sports teams. The State Championship teams kept the pep club busy with their brushes. The fall season extended so long that the club had no break between it and the basketball season. But this did not stop the dedicated group of students from turning out to support the teams. The usual Catholic Central rival brought out a lot of paper and paint from the club. Good spirit was responsible for the many unique slogans and creative ideas for the signs.

Another activity of the Pep Club is to attend most if not all the games and to bring school support to the away games. This year special efforts were made by certain students to see every football and basketball game of the season.

Co-presidents Jim Grawburg and Pat Hayes managed to keep the pep club going with support from moderator Br. Chang.



Pat Hayes takes advantage of a Saturday afternoon to paint a couple creative posters for an upcoming football game.

With a little help from Br. Smyth, Peter Gurski manages to put up the last of several posters to inspire team support during basketball season.

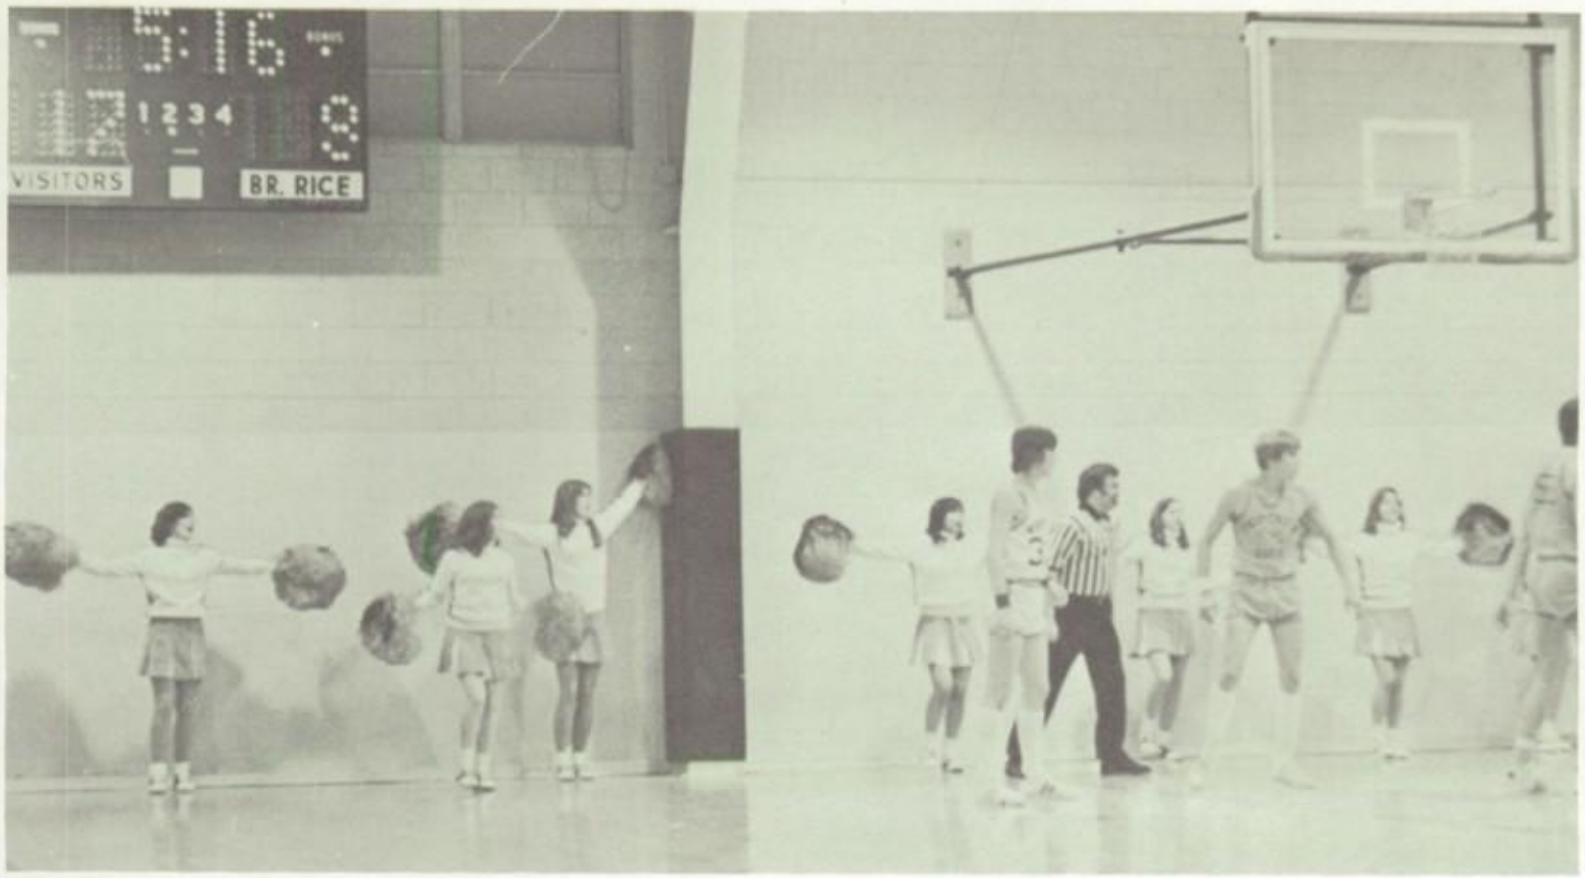
Cheerleaders Exibit Dedicated Attitudes at Rallies, Athletic Events

Providing the crowds with motivating cheers was this year's small but avid group of Rice cheerleaders. The '78 cheerleading squad represents the second time that Marian and Rice have combined talents to excite large crowds at athletic events. Although the squad is a combined organization, the guys and girls would cheer separately. The Ricemen, along with Warrior Bob Auclair, dominated the football games and ended up their own football season by cheering in the Pontiac Silverdome. The band would often accompany them in their cheers, playing short, impromptu college themes. They also lead the cheering section at all of the varsity basketball games. The girls, on the other hand, cheered at all of the junior varsity games during the winter. Moderated by Br. Chang, the cheerleaders added many new lyrics to their conglamoration of cheers, making their act much more original.

The girls always provide a good half-time performance for spectators attending the J.V. basketball games.

Marian cheerleaders Jennie Lello and Anne Czajka enact one of their many cheers prior to a foul throw.

Making use of their cheering status, Mike Mason and Anmar Sarafa share ideas with a few Shrine cheerleaders during half-time.



The J.V. cheerleaders always seem to have a remark for every situation. Here, they cheer during a jump ball, while players wait for the return. This year, the girls cheered at the J.V. games, while Ricemen dominated the Varsity matches.

Confident of a football victory, Rice cheerleaders Anmar Sarafa, Mike Mason, Carroll Laveque and Steve Laclede gather around Warrior Bob Auclair in "thumbs-up" position.

Ricemen lead a great crowd of enthusiastic spectators, as Bob Auclair does the traditional Warrior Dance.

Chess Club Lets Students Improve Their Playing Skills

Chess Club

Under the direction of Mr. Paul Gray, the 1977-78 Brother Rice Chess Club has given interested students a chance to exhibit and improve their skills on the checkered board. Most of the strategic competition this year was intramural with students playing to increase their rank among fellow club members. However, five of the more experienced chessmasters took their skills to other schools to challenge higher abilities. Tournaments at Catholic Central and Country Day High Schools brought out the best in the club as they triumphed over the incapable opponent.

At the bi-monthly meetings, the Chess Club members test out new positions of the sixteen piece army which they command. Mr. Paul Gray gives his advice on strategies from his years as moderator. He also offers the students an alternative to the normal chess matches by notifying members of tournaments which take place throughout the state. Some such matches have brought Rice more trophies to put in the ever enlarging case.

Throughout the year, the Chess Club has assisted students in challenging their individual mental capabilities, and has brought together students with mutual interests.

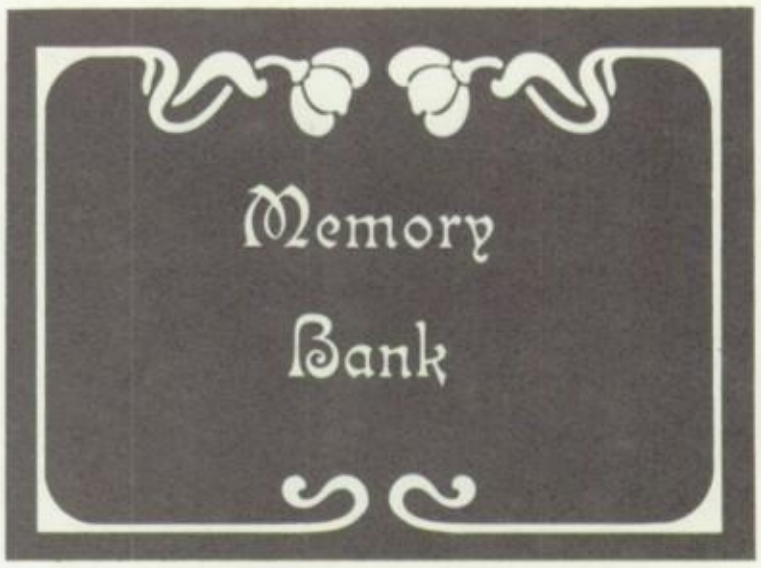
Newly Formed Memory Bank Raises, Answers Questions



The Memory Bank was one of the newer clubs and organizations included in the many activities that have gone on after school this year. Headed by Mr. Tony Sincic, its members have gone beyond the normal curriculum of math and science and into other interesting areas of these subjects.

At their meetings twice a week, the students worked in groups or individually on projects. And with the aid of the school computer as well as Mr. Sincic, they were able to apply their math and science to outside activities, such as model rocketry.

Other activities included presentations by individual members, and analysis of programs and computer games. The Memory Bank also sponsored contests, among which was one to name the club and others to write the best computer programs.

The Memory Bank is doing a fine job in preparing students for a world ever increasing in its technological dependency.

Hard Work and Irish Luck Yield Successful Auction Fund Raising Party

Sponsored by the Mothers' and Fathers' Clubs, the first annual Irish Nite Auction turned out to be one of the most lucrative fund raisers in the school's history. A net value of fifty-two thousand dollars was raised through the auctioning of almost four hundred items and services donated by various organizations and private benefactors. Most of the merchandise was sold by private auction at various tables in both the gym and the cafeteria.

The money attained by the gala fund raiser went toward school maintenance, repairs, and much needed improvements. Thanks to the hard work of many fathers and mothers, among them Mrs. Joanne Christie, Mr. Bob Temmerman, Mr. Pat Norton and Mr. Dick Cote, Brother Rice will be able to continue its tradition of quality education for all students.

Mother's Club Demonstrates its Importance Through Activities

The Br. Rice Mothers' Club took a dynamic step, and introduced a few innovations to their annual schedule this year. One of the changes was in their major fundraiser. The Mothers' Club, along with the Fathers' Club, extended the idea of an annual raffle, and held the first annual Brother Rice Irish Nite. This fundraiser consists of a combination raffle and auction. In addition to the new changes, however, the club still held its very successful Saint Patrick's Day Luncheon in March, as well as the usual dinner dance at the Hilton in February.

Open board meetings are held bi-monthly, and general Mothers' Club gatherings are held semi-annually: once at the Hospitality Tea in September, and again at the Spring Luncheon in May.

Fathers Specialize in Much Needed Activities, Fundraisers

Mr. and Mrs. Brennan and Mr. and Mrs. Allen were among the numerous couples who enjoyed the musical entertainment provided for them during the Parents' Club Dinner Dance held in February.

Fathers' Club president Martin Brennan heads one of the most active groups associated with the Rice community. As part of their policy the father's club consistantly tries to add new functions and events to their yearly agenda. This year, they made a joint effort with the Mothers' Club and held their first annual Raffle-Auction in March. In addition, the group still aids the Rice community by sponsoring a number of events; the Nite of Recollection, the Annual Boys' Bowl game played against arch-rival Catholic Central, as well as helping out with football and basketball crowds at varsity games throughout the year. The Fathers' Club believed that relationships between father and son are of great importance, as they also hold the Father-Son Communion Breakfast, one of their most successful functions in years past.

Three general meetings are held at various times during the year and prominent guest speakers are always in attendance. Board meetings are held on the first Monday of each month. Certainly, the Fathers' Club has earned their place among the many dynamic organizations at Brother Rice.

Non-League Play Ruins Warrior's Playoff Hopes

If the Brother Rice Varsity Baseball team was judged on their league record, they would have impressed many. But because they played non-Catholic League schools, their record was not all that remarkable.

After they lost their first two games, they came back to win their next six league games and the next seven out of eight match-ups. In total runs scored, Brother Rice was outstanding with 48 as compared to their opponents 20.

On the other hand, the Warrior's out of league record is not so impressive. They won only 9 out of 19 in the non-league play. The Warrior's scored only 87 total runs as compared to the 99 by their opponents.

Considering the entire season, Rice shut out their adversaries twice whereas they were shut out three times, the last one coming in the Divisional playoffs against Kimball, in closely matched game. Earlier in the season, the Warrior's lost to them twice, 1-4 and 3-5, and the home field advantage was not with them.

The Warriors were gifted with the presence of three players that received individual honors. Mike Jamieson received the All-League, All-Catholic, All-Regional, and the Catholic League Gold Glove Award. Tim Schearer received these same honors also and Tom Wurster received All-League recognition.

The overall 1977 team batting average was .247, the average pitching ERA was 2.40 with a very impressive 1.12 ERA pitched by Tom Wurster.

Any hope of team honors was lost when one of Rice's star players, Kevin Cleary, was injured for the season.

Tracksters Set Many New School Records

As Dan Sandon starts, Mr. Stark gazes upon his drooping sock perplexedly

Last year, the Varsity Track Team seemed to set more than a normal allowance of school records. These records ranged from height to length, from individual timings to relay timings.

With returning lettermen such as Mike Finn, Rod LaRees, Jon English, Lou Basso, Pete Byerlein, and many others, the tracksters were on their way to having one of their best seasons ever.

After beating Oak Park and West Bloomfield, Rice lost a tough meet to Bishop Borgess, 75 to 83. Rice then went on to beat Catholic Central, U of D, DeLaSalle, and Notre Dame.

In the Catholic League Championships, Rice was ranked 14th.

Some of the school records: Mike Finn 13' 3" pole vault, Larry Varley - Mike Finn - Mike Hoffey 37' pole vault relay, Jon English 6' 7" high jump, Rod LaRees 21' 5½" long jump, Lou Basso 144' 7" discus, and Rod LaRees 40.5 sec. low hurdles.

In the four mile relay, Pete Byerlein, Gary Klezek, Mike Chiodo, and Kevin Deighan had a time of 18:08.3 sec. which was the 5th fastest time in the history of the state.

Excellent Play, Weather, Proves To Be Factors for Best Season

Coming off a disappointing 1976 season, the Varsity Racketeers started this season on a shaky foot, winning only three of their first five matches. But they came back strong, winning 8 straight 11 out of 13. Because of this strong comeback, they were advanced into the playoffs.

Earlier in the season, the Racketeers had defeated their annual rival, Austin. The first time in 6 years of play. They also defeated such teams as Seaholm, Ann Arbor Huron, and Pontiace Catholic for the first time ever, and came within one set of beating Cranbrook, losing in the 3rd match.

For the past four years Brother Rice has been downed in the Regional Tournament, but not so this year. They overtook Southfield Lathrup early in play, but by the time play was finished, they had come back to tie Rice.

In the Catholic League semi-finals, Rice soundly defeated U. of D. with everyone winning their matches. Unfortunately, the next team to beat in the climb to the top was Austin, and they were hungry for revenge and got it, cleaning up on Rice, 6 to 1.

On Friday, June 3rd, the last day of school, the State Class A Finals were getting underway and Rice was ready to go. Everyone won their opening matches, with one exception. But on Saturday, the Racketeers went down fighting but not before taking 4th place in the State. Fourth, that is, out of 250 State Class A schools.

Culminating all of this, the 1977 Brother Rice Varsity Racketeers had the best season ever in the history of Rice.

Although there are no playoffs fòr the Junior Varsity team coached by Brother Favero, this year's team, with outstanding players such as Jeff Boes and Jim Aragones, would have done well with a 13 and 0 record.

Golfers Take Home Coveted Trophy

With anticipation of a good season, the 1977 Varsity Linksters convened for the first time since their final match last year. The team was almost completely the same, losing only two players off the team as well as Coach Shannon.

At their first match, they proved their hunch that they would be good, crushing their opponents and making use of three new players and their new coach, Mr. Rademacher.

With expertise and other necessities required, he guided the team to the State Championship Match. After several emotionally drained hours, the Brother Rice Linksters emerged with the Class A Championship, a rarity considering the number of teams in Class A.

They were quite nice presents to give their new coach, the Championship and the Catholic League Coach of the Year award. The same old story of hard work, skill and determination proved themselves once more in the journals of time.

The 1977 Harriers Set Exemplary Season, 4-1 Record and 15th in State

The seclusion of the Cross Country runner is exemplified by Joe Blechinger, pacing himself just past the halfway mark.

The 1977 Harriers proved to be a consistant competitor this year. In the state class A championship they placed 15th in a field of over 180 teams. This kind of achievement was representive of the work they did during the season. The team was led by tri-captains Scott Burry, Gary Klezek, and Pete Byerlein. Coached by Mr. Robert Stark, the Cross Country team won over many state-ranked high schools.

The Harriers placed well in many of the mid-season invitationals. At the Catholic Central Invitational, they ended with third place. They attained fifth place at the Down River Invitational. Their dual meet record was 4-1.

Many of the team members gained individual achievements. Also, Gary Klezek, Mike Markey, and Pete Kelley won All Catholic. Pete Byerlein and also Gary Klezek captured All Central Division. Other awards were: Outstanding Performer, Gary Klezek; Outstanding Sophomore, Mike Markey; Outstanding Freshmen, Tim Sullivan and Pete Monohan.

Closely pacing a Troy runner, Dan Koster prepares to overtake his opponent.

No, this isn't a cut from a Merryl Lynch T.V. commercial, but it's another meet where Rice is out in front. Leading are Pete, Kelley, and Dan Koster.

All the runners work toward a common goal, the finish line. The Harrier's Pete Andrich and Mark Reising try to break through to it.

Supporting Rice parents discuss the meet that just ended as they anxiously awai the scoring results from the officials.

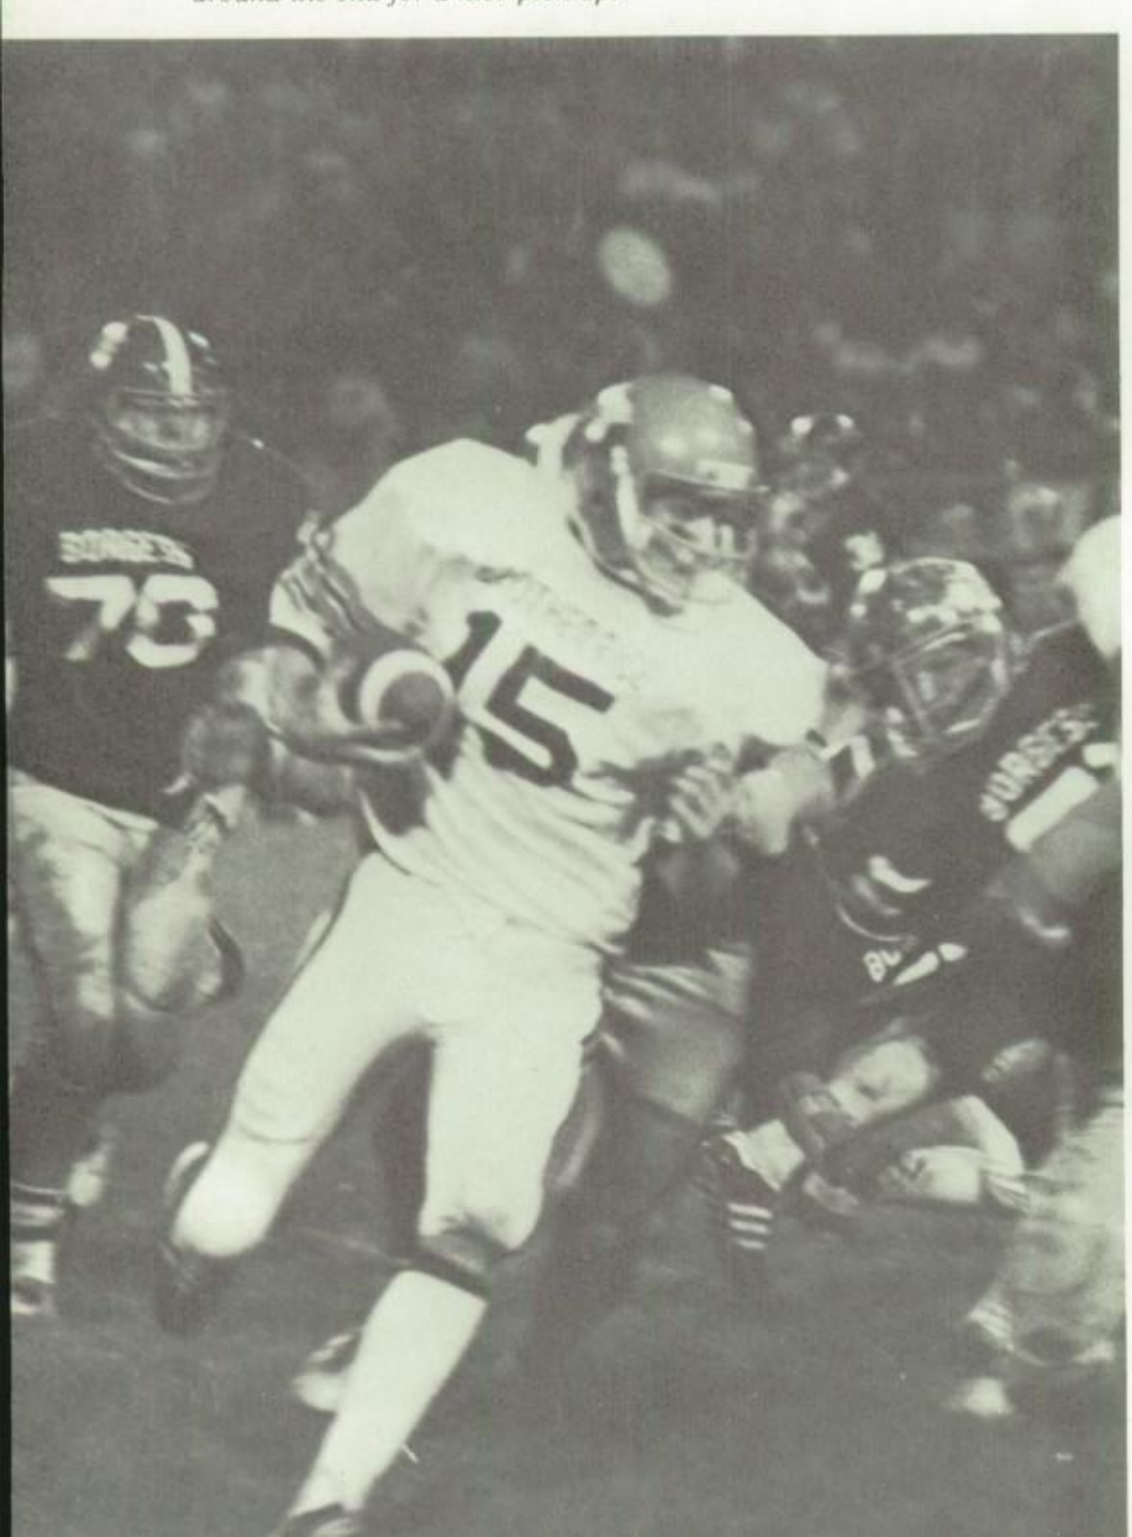
1977 STATE CLASS A CHAMPIONS

Size No Problem for Termite Defense, Offense

Heart. The motivation throughout the season was generated through "heart-power." When Coach Fracassa spoke about the team, he spoke of the teams heart-power. He emphasized it in every news article about the team. Heart power was about the only real power the 1977 Warriors had since the average weight on defense was 163 lbs. But size made little difference on the field because the defense made up for it with speed. The defensive unit under the leadership of Mr. Kalczynski was one of the quickest ever in the history of Brother Rice. Also, teamwork played a part in their perfect 12-0 season. On almost all the tackles, one Ricer stopped the opposition initially, but before the runner hit the ground, there were 4 or 5 Warriors helping out. Unlike the Rice teams of the past, 6' 3" - 225 lbs. which just overpowered the opposition, the 1977 Warriors used their speed and agility to get to the top.

The offensive unit, with the help of Mr. Popson, and all-state junior quarterback Jon English, had an original season also. Whereas the offense of years past preffered to run, this year Jon English changed that, the team making use of his pin-point passing. His favorite receiver was Marty Martinez, although he frequently used his secondary receivers also. This brought to a climax in the State Finals at the Pontiac Silverdome where the Portage Northern Mustangs defense was geared up to the pass protection. Expecting this, Coach Fracassa readied the running attack and surprised the Mustangs. Rice went on to win the final after the Mustangs scored first. After a daring fake punt attempt, Rice scored a touchdown, thus tieing up the game 7-7. The go ahead score came when Brian Swanson kicked a field goal. In the second half, Joe Fontanesi scored a security touchdown, capping off his brilliant 4 year record. The final score 17-7, season record 12-0, and finally, State Class A Champions.

In the first tough game, All-State Jon English breaks a tackle and runs around the end for a nice pick up.



Picking the wrong hole to run through, this Catholic Central player realizes the meaning of the Termite Defense.

Displaying one of his many talents on the field, Ed Lynch punts away. In the final game, he booted one 69 yards.

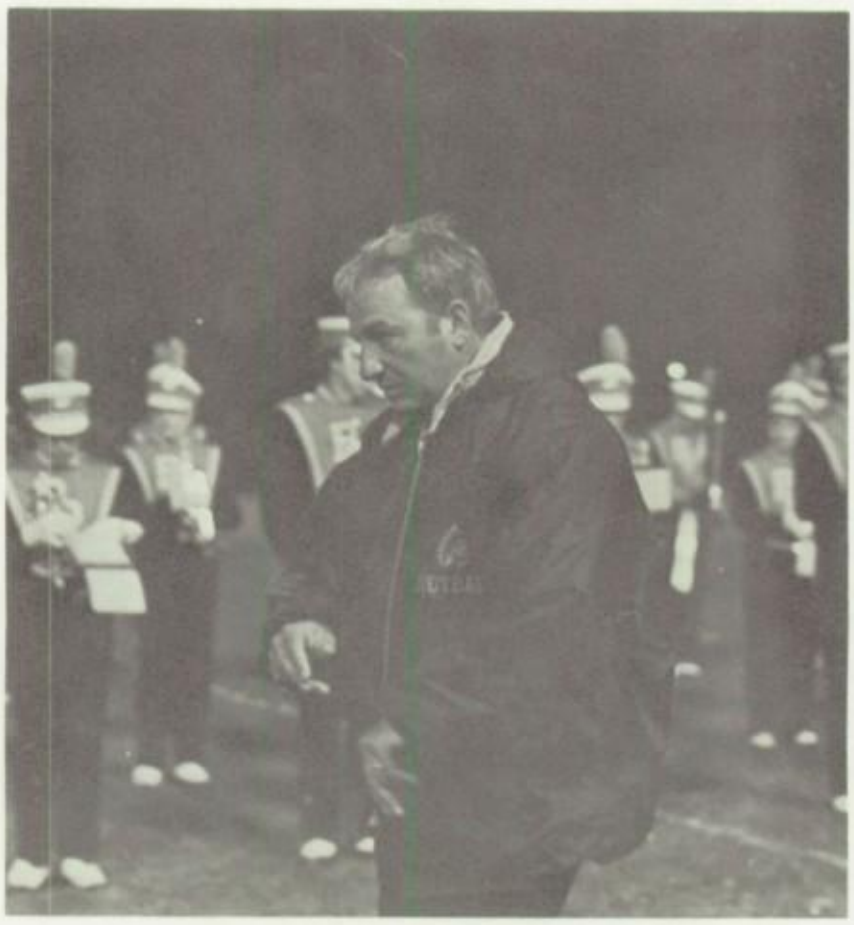
After receiving the championship trophy, there are wide differences of emotions in a semi-candid shot.



Looking more like a Vince Lombardi type, Coach Fracassa concentrates on the second half coming up.

Using some open-field maneuvers on a Portage Northern defender, Matt O'Connor hopes to break away from an otherwise obvious loss.

Pulling off the game-tying fake punt attempt is Rice's Matt O'Conner. Matt made a gain of 32 yards on the play and on the take, scored the touchdown which swung the momentum of the game from Portage to Rice.

In the patented style of the Varsity defense, Rice defenders swarm on the little-suspecting Borgess runner.

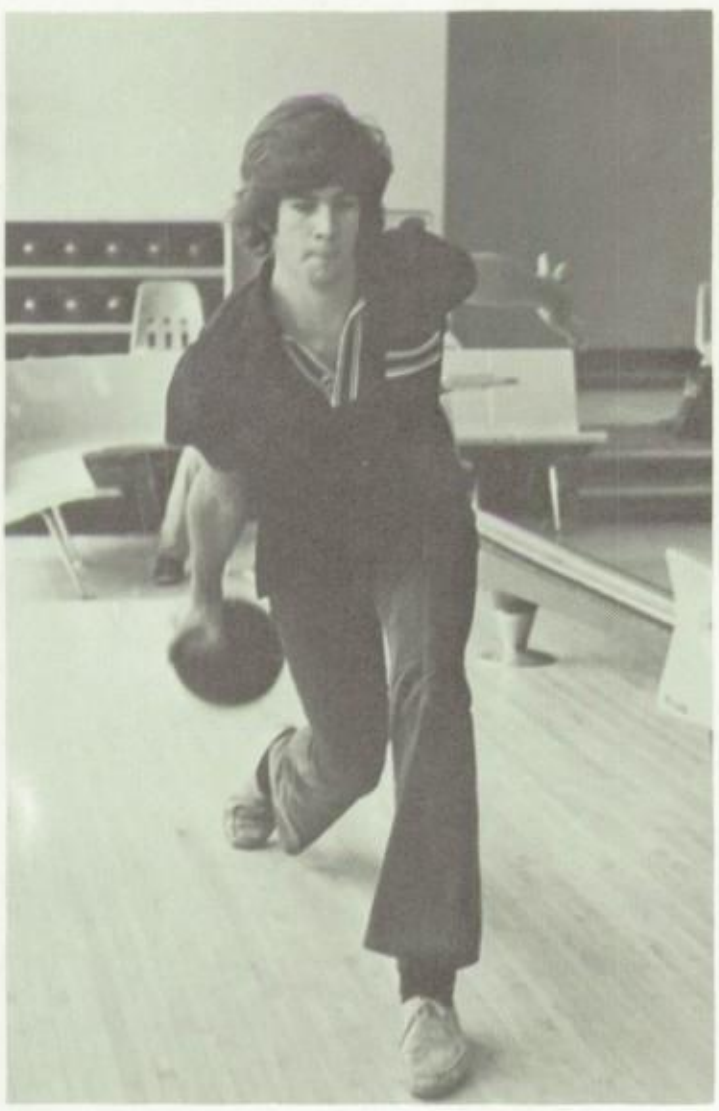
Fine Coaching, Teamwork Gain Trophy



The only "real talent" on this years team, Mike Burns carries a league leading 174 average.

With the loss of the three main stays of last year's team, Coach Favero had little hope for this year's season. But to his surprise, both the Varsity and the Junior Varsity Keglers won the Catholic League Championship for the first half, which qualified them for the finals at the end of their season. The leagues leading bowler, Mike Burns, had a 174 average and was on the upswing. The interesting part of the first half was that 3 teams in the Varsity and 7 (of 8) in the J.V. leagues were still in contention at the beginning of the last two weeks.

The Varsity team consisted of Mike Burns, 174, Chuch Klucka, 163, Steve Barron, 163, Bob Brown, 160, and Kevin Czarneicki, 158. The J.V. team was a mixture of Kevin Laclede, 159, Steve Laclede, 159, Kirk Van Cleave, 138, John Diggs, 151, Mike Schmidt, 149, Jon Ball, 148, Anmar Sarafa, 145, and Peter Heidrich, 126.

One of the high points of the season happened when Chuch Klucka bowled a league high series of 620 to give Rice a secure place for the playoffs. Also, Mike Burns bowled a team high game of 238. The biggest surprise of the year is Steve Barron. During the tryouts, Steve bowled an average of 145, but his average skyrocketed to 163.

Varsity Winning Season Marred by Key Losses

Basketball

The 1977-78 Warrior Varsity Basketball season met both success and disappointment. The Warriors won 16 games; yet four key losses throughout the season ended the hopes for any championship as well as a return appearance at Crisler Arena.

In the early part of the season, the Cagers showed slow but steady improvement as the team was still learning to work together. The Warriors jumped off to a 9-1 record with their only loss being a three point setback to River Rouge.

Last second defeats, however, plagued the team's second half of the season. First, in a close game with Catholic Central, the team came out on the short end by two. The let down was evident in the next game as the Warriors again lost by two to Borgess in overtime.

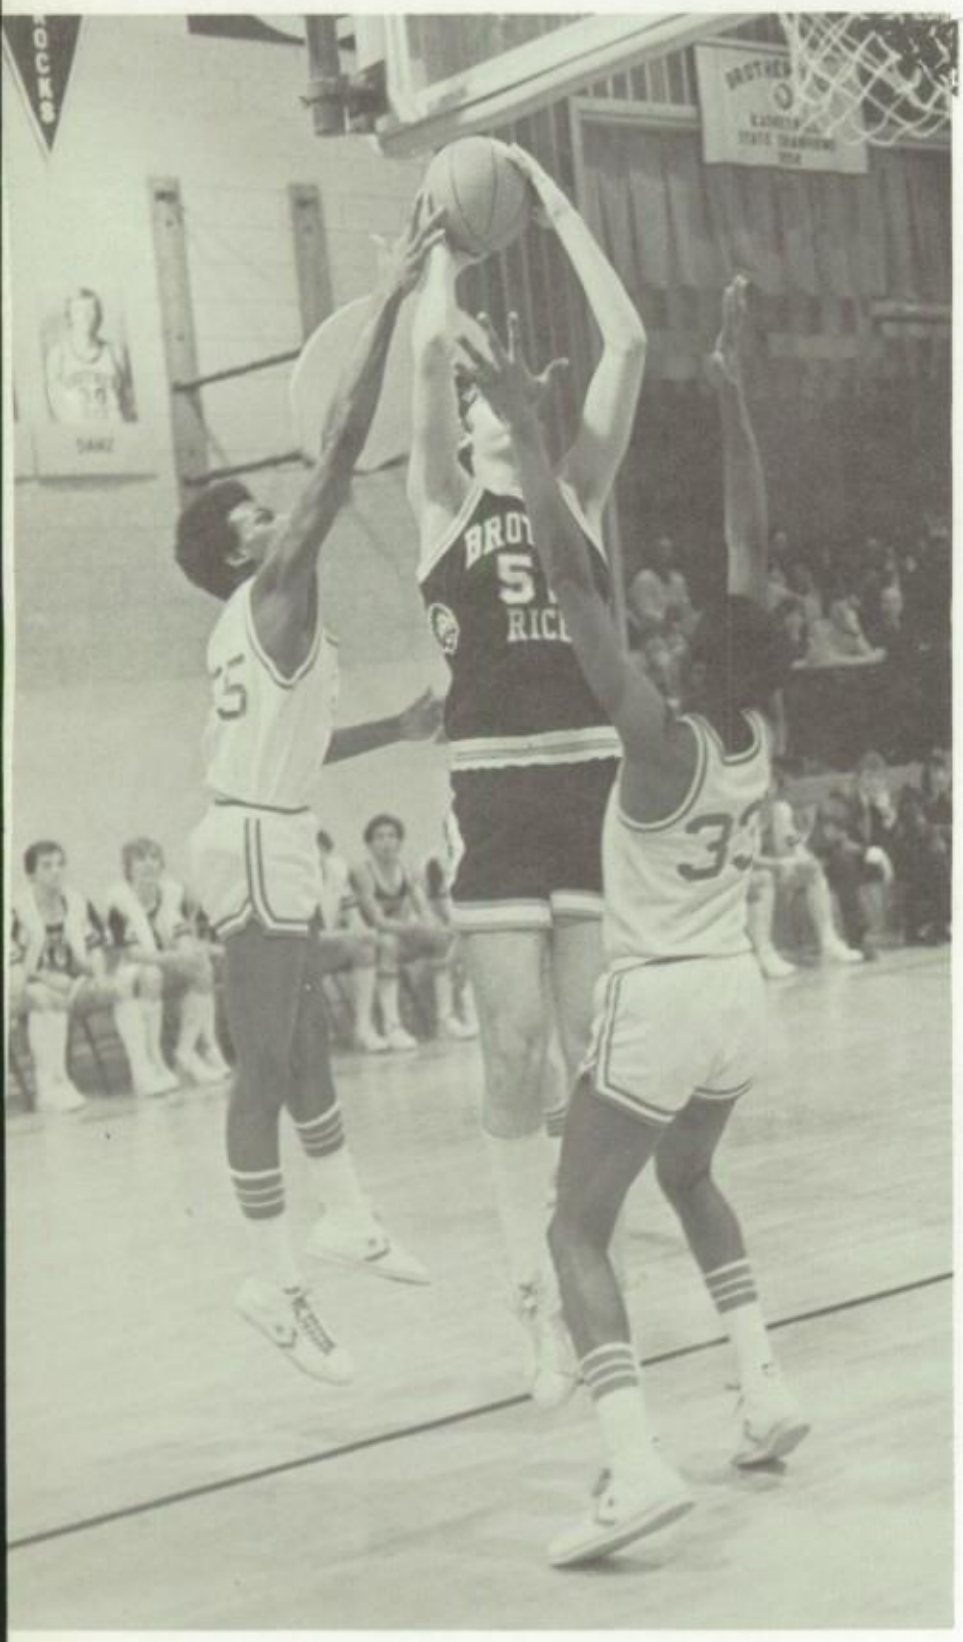
These losses ended the Warriors' chance for a Catholic League championship. The second loss to C.C., also a last second loss, put the final nail in the coffin. The cagers then put their hope towards the State Championship Tournament. As a warmup to the Tournament, the Warriors took five victories including an impressive victory over Class D favorites East Catholic.

In the first round of the districts, Andover, coached by former Rice assistant coach, John Maloney, was drawn. It was this rivalry contest that eliminated Rice from the state Tourny.

The team was led by All-Stater Tim Andree, a junior, and was paced by the consistant play of Seniors Mike Henry, Vince Tushis and Ron Washington.

The bench played an important role in every game as Mike Dietz, Rob Manilla, and Mike McGowan were needed for relief of the starters. The "Apaches," consisting of Bruno Petrella, Don Pietrowski, Jon English, Mike Walsh, and Joe Parke, came in at certain times to raise team and crowd enthusiasm.

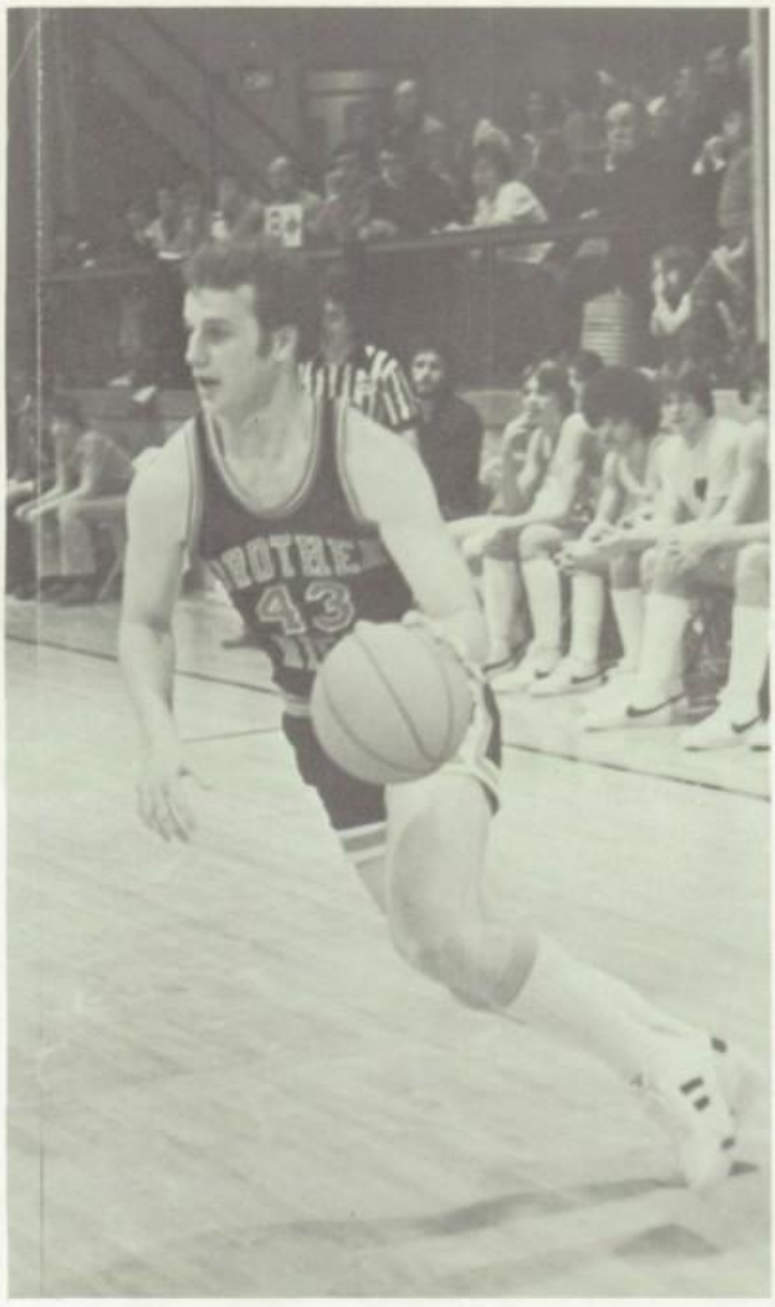
The squad this year proved to be a true "team" in that they worked together for the same goals "Strength and Unity."



Center Tim Andree muscles in a shot while two U. of D. defenders try in vain to stop him.

Junior Apache-chief Mike Dietz, while working alone on a fast break, tries to take a shot while a rather tall Catholic Central player defends.

Don Pietrowski goes up on his toes as he pumps in the first of two free throws.



All-Central Mike Henry drives in for a layup as the Notre Dame Basketball team watches in disgust.

While stuck in a tight corner with two anxious Catholic Central defenders, George Duncan finds himself retreating to get off a pass. To make sure there is no body contact, the referee is right on the spot, whistle-in-the-mouth.

Individual, Team Growth Highlights Losing Season

The 1977-78 Junior Varsity Basketball team started off slow, but finished strong as they compiled a 16-4 record. Under the direction of coach Steve Emert, the team captured the central division reserve championship with a 9-1 league record.

After the first four games, the reserves were 1-3, but they went on a winning spree collection 15 victories and losing 1 during the rest of the season.

Mush of the team's success was due to the playmaking ability of Brian Brennen and the rebounding and shooting ability of Steve English and Judd Hart. The bench also contributed to the success as they had their own "Apache" squad.

As a pregame warm-up to the Varsity ball handlers, the Junior Varsity entertained the crowd with excellent maneuvers.

Skiers Gain New Coach, Experiences During Practices and Meets

The skiers before their runs have to check over the course for mogels and other things to look out for. Here a Rice skier is checking out a turn.

This year's ski team held their dual meets at Alpine Valley. Because of returning lettermen such as Ralph Gonzales and Steve Parkes, the team was all ready for the season that was ahead of them.

Due to some individual efforts and, more importantly, a great team effort, Brother Rice finished their season with a 6-1 record, losing only to West Bloomfield.

Regardless of their season record, Rice skiers seemed to lose what it took to win as they failed to do well in the divisional, league championship and finally the regional tournaments.

Although the season ended on a bad note, the team has hope for next year because they acquired an excellent coach in Mr. Stark Sasso. Mr. Sasso is a superb skier and coach who gave the skiers a tremendous amount of help in their quest for the league championship.

Steve Parkes shoulders a marker flag as other competitors look on in awe. Steve is also a veteran on the team.

Varsity Puckster's Record Not As Impressive As Was Their Play

Those faithful fans who followed the Warriors realized that their record of 5-15-5 wasn't a true indicator of the team's play this season. The hockey team moved up to the first division and played evenly with their opponents ninety percent of the time.

The Varsity Pucksters were led by Seniors Scott Kluge, Jeff Wardlow, Tony Venuto, John Ebbing, and Greg Henderson. Each of these players provided individual talents to the team. Thirteen lettermen will return to play. Unfortunately, Coach Wartchow will not be returning to lead the team toward it's goals. His unique style of coaching and his support will be missed. The work he did with the team helped to de-delop their physical and mental skills as players.

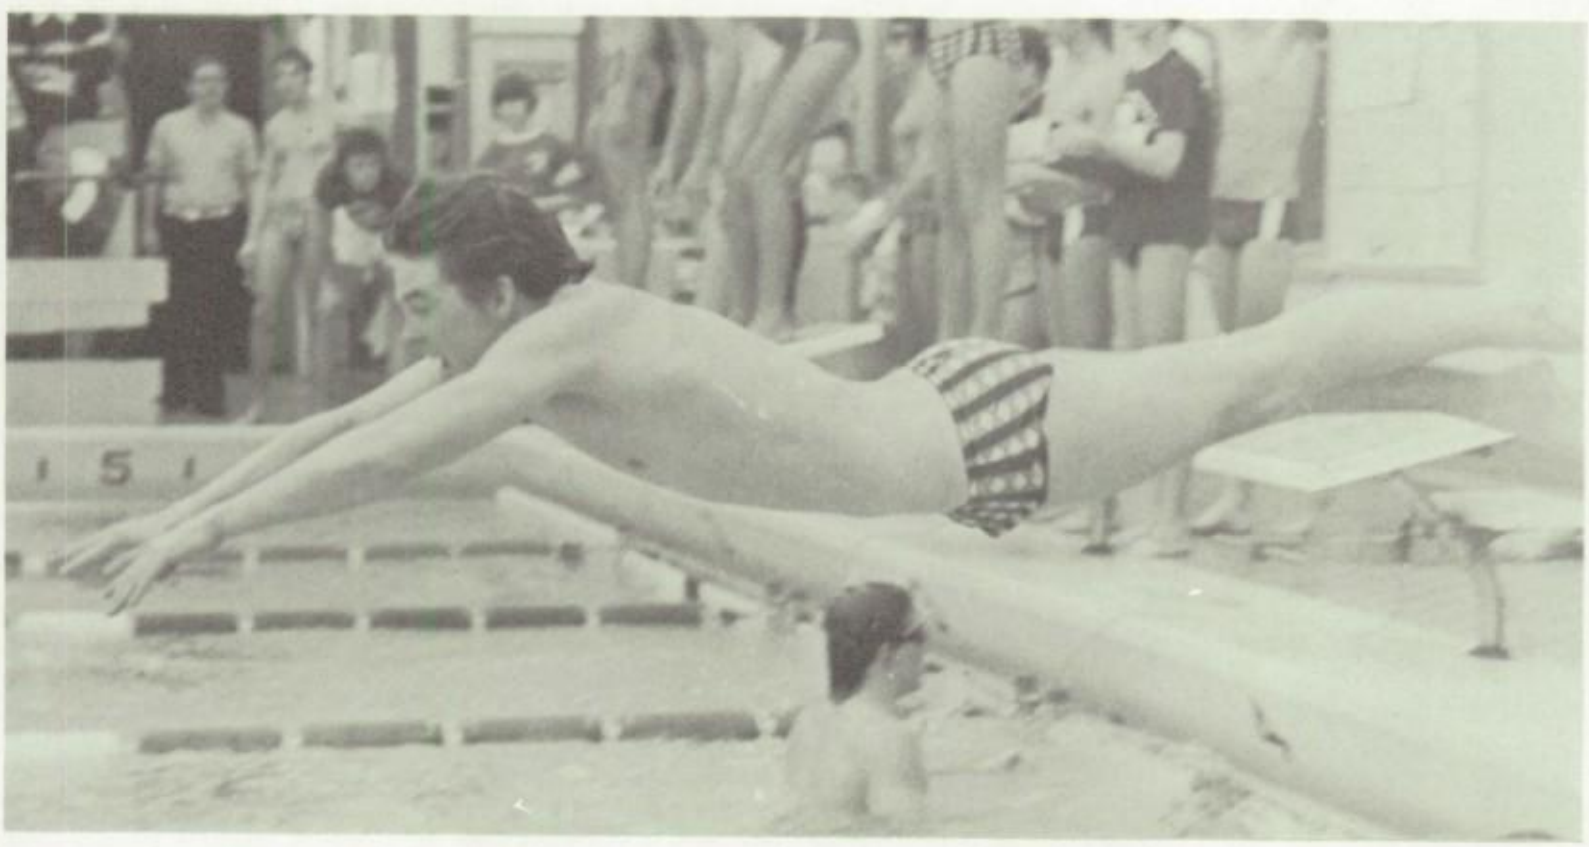
The 1978 edition of the Water Wonder Warriors has built up an impressive record. This season was special because Senior Gordon Geheb was State Champion in the 50 yard freestyle event.

This All-State award only begins the long list of victories made by the team. They finished with a respectable 8-5 dual meet record, and with a perfect 6-0 league record. For the third consecutive year the "Monster Maggots" captured the Catholic League Championship title. The Water Warriors came home from the State Class "A" Swim Championships with a sixth place finish. The Water Wonder Warriors also broke and made many records, including eight new school records and five Catholic League records.

Many swimmers earned individual honors with the team. Those who won All-League Honors were: Shawn Keating, Tom Temmermen, Jim Biehl, Gordon Geheb, Mike Haffey, and Mark Ward. All-State Honors went to: Shawn Keating, Jim Biehl, Gordon Geheb, and Mike Haffey.



During a dual meet, Gerald McGlynn makes a flying, screaming dive off the block in a relay event. After a bad start in the dual meets, the W.W.W.'s pulled together a decent 8-5 dual meet record for the season.

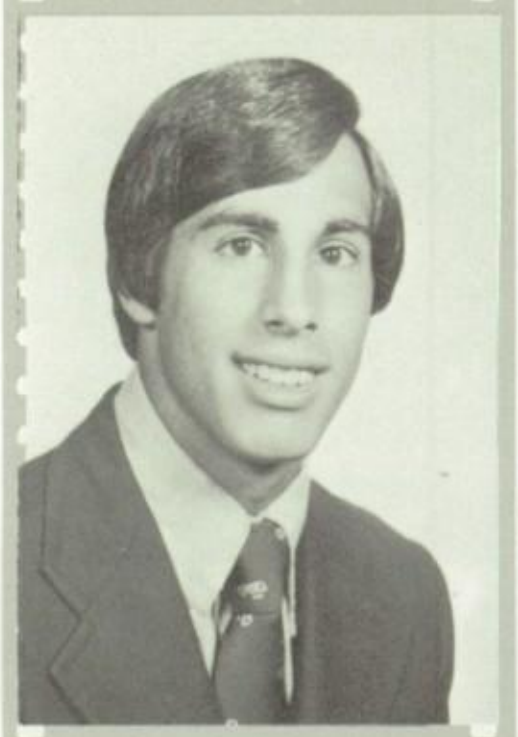
Adulation, Honor Given to Seniors For Achievements



Leonard P. Perna
Vice President

A class' history is difficult to preserve in any other way than in a mere listing of the events which compiled it. Here is written a brief summary which gave the Class of 1978 its particular characteristics.

Leadership, as always, is expected from the Seniors and this year brought adulation and honor to the class in terms of both Catholic and State competitions. In these areas of top performance, the Seniors dominated in football, golf, debate, and baseball.

In the social areas, the most successful dances and Rice-Marian activities were Senior controlled. Rice-Marian Weekend's Quiz-'Em was won by the class' intellegensia and the Rice-Marian play had Seniors in the three leading roles.

In areas of finance, from their underclass days, the Class of '78 had been very inventive in enmassing an impressive treasury which enabled them to buy new sound equipment which was badly needed for school functions. More remarkable was the fact that Prom, held this year at the Roostertail, had a very low bid per couple due to its underwriting by the class treasury. This way not only the school but also its individual class members were helped as a result of fund-raising. Because of the low bid, the Prom was attended by over 150 couples as the class returned to the river setting. Masquerade provided the music there as they had done at the equally successful Homecoming Dance held at the Mercy College Center in October.

In academic areas, the class sent all but a few on to college with numerous scholarships. The Senior Seminar and job experience program seened to dwindle due to lack of interest which may cause these activities to be retired in the future. The year ended with final energies and exuberance translated into humorour, good-natured fun to express the excitement of four years completed. The relaxed spring dress code spurred a Senior "Clash" Day in which the Seniors dressed outlandishly, announcing the beginning of the end. By finishing the year with spirit, nostalgia and prudent maturity, the class not only made themselves stand out from the rest, but they thereby set a tone for the underclass as well.

From the beginning to the conclusion of their four years, they have left their positive and constructive impression on their teachers and friends. The Class of 1978 can be proud that those looking to Brother Rice for quality have found it in its example and attitudes.

While at Rice, work as hard as you can, for the eventual rewards are well worth the struggle.
Michael Brandow

The best part of Rice was leaving it. I'm proud to have graduated from this excellent school.
Jeff Thompson

The guys at Brother Rice are great, they would do anything to help a friend.
Michael Kinna

Just work, study, and show some class and you will make it. I know that I did.
Laurent Morin

I have no regrets about coming to Rice. Why regret something that has already happened?
Thomas Yaw

Brother Rice has helped me to grow to know myself and to know others much better.
Burke Cueny

The people here have class; they just don't show it all of the time. Most of them are great!
James Aragones

Remember that 50% of what you learn is irrelevant to life . . . it's the other 50% that counts!
Anonymous

The best part of it was making it through for four LONG years.
Steve LaClede

At times we think that discipline is uneeded, but in the long run, it will help you to mature.
C. Matthew Dyar

I have no regrets about going to Rice. The place kind of grows on you.
Timothy Burkart

There will always be that something at Rice that won't be found at any other school.
Patrick Burns

It's not quantity of intelligence but quality of attitude that makes Rice superior.
Anthony Venuto

Have a good time, but watch out for the teachers . . . they're everywhere!
John Ferens

I will always hold my head high when I say that I went to Brother Rice.
Lawrence Varley

I may forget facts and dates, but I won't forget the people, the fun, or the hard times.

The End

Congratulations! You may be one of the few people who actually makes it to the final frame of this book. Unfortunately for us, that seemed to be the general feeling of a lot of the people involved with the '78 Quest. The staff started out in September with experience, enthusiasm, and members; but somewhere along the line, a little of each was lost. The cutting room floor wasn't swept until well into June. The late completion date made it easy for us to give thorough coverage of the year, which shows that some things do turn out for the better in the end.

Personally, I feel that the book, in spite of the above, was well worth while, as the preceding pages should have shown if you are one of those who will use it to help recap your high school days.

Needless to say, we couldn't have done it alone. On behalf of the Staff, I would like to heartily thank our "idea man" and moderator, Br. Dogan whose never ending support, prodding, and patience saw us through to the end. I would also like to thank the people at both Modern Yearbook and Pieronek Studios for their invaluable services throughout the year. I would also personally like to thank the Staff that worked; your loyalty was appreciated.

In reading the book, I feel that my efforts have been rewarding, but this book will only be as effective as the highlights recorded here will allow you to relive and remember.
